Quick Action Desired From Mexico in Settling Border Protection Question

UNITED STATES AWAITING WORD FROM CARRANZA AS TO LINE OF PROCEDURE

Arredondo Transmits American Note to Mexico City, in Which Suggestion Is Made That No Time Be Wasted in Threshing Out Differences and Plans for Border Protection.

Washington, July 7.—Inception of the diplomatic conversations, which it is hoped, will result in a settlement of the differences between the United States and the de facto government of Mexico awaited tonight a suggestion from General Carranza as to how they should proceed. State department officials believe more can be accomplished through informal conferences between Eliseo Arredondo, Mexican ambassador designate, and Frank L. Polk, acting secretary of state, than by a more formal exchange of views. They are willing to accede, however, to some other plan should the de facto government propose it.

Mr. Arredondo transmitted to his government today a brief and friendly note from Secretary Lansing expressing gratification over the turn of affairs between the two governments has taken and accepting proposals for diplomatic settlement of points in dispute. The communication was approved by the cabinet before it was sent to the Mexican embassy. The text follows:

TEXT OF LATEST NOTE TO CARRANZA.

"Sir: I have the honor of acknowledge the receipt of your communication of July 4, 1916, in which you transcribe a note addressed to me by the secretary of foreign relations of your government and to request that you will transmit to him the following reply:

"Mr. Secretary: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your courteous note transmitted to me by Senator Arredondo on the fourth instant in which you refer to my notes of June 26 and June 25 and to assure you of the sincere gratification of my government at the frank statement of the difficulties which have unfortunately arisen in our relations along the international boundary and the unreserved expression of the desire of your government to reach an adjustment of these difficulties on a broad and amicable basis. The same spirit of friendship and of solicitude for the continuance of cordial relations between our two countries inspires my government which equally desires a solution of the difficulties which have long vexed both governments.

"It is especially pleasing to my government that the de facto government of Mexico is disposed to give quick as well as practical consideration in a spirit of concord to the remedies which may be applied to the existing conditions.

Funston's Men on Watch for Rumored Villa Raid

San Antonio, Tex., July 7.—Careful attention was paid by General Funston and his staff today to every message bit of information coming out of Mexico relating to renewed activity of the organized bandits in the state of Chihuahua. Unconfirmed reports supplied some reason for believing that they are directed and possibly led in person by Francisco Villa, the general's official notification that the force that destroyed General Ramos' force near Jimenez might be moving north with the object of reaching the American side of the river was borne out to some extent by information reaching the intelligence department of the American army but the American sources of information also had reports that the bandits were swinging toward the south and west towards Parral.

The mobilization of national guardsmen dragged a little today due to the delays in several states where guardsmen are not yet ready to start south. As fast as notification that guardsmen are ready to move General Funston was prepared to assign them to stations. The last of the Illinois national guard reached here today.

Due to the presence of two major generals of the national guard, General Parker and General George Bell of the regular army, but ranking only as brigadiers, have found a large part of the guardsmen sent to their districts reporting directly to the ranking civilian officers. Major General O'Ryan, commanding a New York division that was sent to the Brownsville district, has received instructions to report directly to General Funston. Those units of the guardsmen not of that division are under direct orders of General Parker.

The other case is that of Major General Clemens, commanding Pennsylvania troops at El Paso, the district commanded by General Bell. General Clemens has been instructed to report to department headquarters.

STORM DEATH LOSS INFANTILE PARALYSIS DROPS TO ONE MAN SITUATION SERIOUS IN LATER REPORTS

PROPERTY DAMAGE, HOWEVER, WILL REACH MILLIONS OF DOLLARS WITH MANY SMALL COAST TOWNS YET TO HEAR FROM. TRAFFIC ALMOST NORMAL.

STANDING TIMBER IS FELLE

Less Than Fifty Trees Remain in One Tract of as Many Acres—Damage Around Laurel Not Nearly So Great as Indicated—The Mississippi Melon Crops Ruined in Many Places.

Latest reports from the hurricane swept gulf coast though bringing reports of property damage totalling millions of dollars, thus far have definitely established only one death, that of an engineer killed at Bond, Miss., when his train ran into a washout. The gale, which seems to have spent its force was followed by a series of destructive tornadoes in the interior of Alabama and torrential rains that assumed cloudburst proportions at some places.

Reports from Beloit, Ala., that seventeen negroes were killed there Thursday were denied today by the correspondent of a Birmingham newspaper and a dispatch from Selma reporting three or four deaths at Mobile lacked confirmation.

Many small coast towns in the storm belt have not been heard from owing to demolished wire conditions and as is usually the case in gulf hurricanes it will be several days before the loss of life can be accurately reported.

Mobile was still off from wire communication as was Pensacola. Fragmentary news from Pensacola reported the greatest damage was done on the water front and to shipping. No lives were lost in the city.

In the pine sections of Mississippi and Alabama, according to reports from forces working on the telephone and telegraph wires, the storm covered an area about fifty miles wide, causing great damage to standing timber. Estimates on crop and other damage in the interior of Alabama were not available.

Revised reports from Laurel, Miss., today placed the damage in that city at only about $40,000 and denial was made of reports that the storm forced four large mills to suspend operations making 2,000 men idle. Crop loss around Laurel was reported heavy.

Reports tonight from Hattiesburg, Miss., estimated that millions of feet of standing timber were ruined in that district. Less than fifty trees were left standing in a tract of fifty acres of pine timber, the report said.

Telegraph reports from Central Mississippi stated that the melon crops were ruined and damage had been done to a large number of farm buildings. At Waynesboro and Philadelphia, Miss., two small churches were destroyed.

Wire service to the section north of New Orleans was being rapidly restored today, but no communication was obtainable with Mobile or Pensacola. Efforts to get Pensacola by wireless also were futile. The wire companies asserted it would be several days at least before service could be restored to these cities.

Great trees were uprooted and blown across the wires at frequent intervals for miles and miles and along the lines of those cities and much time and labor will be required to clear the circuits.

The railroad traffic between New Orleans and the outside was rapidly resuming normal tonight with the exception of the Louisville and Nashville, which was hampered by washouts on the line to Mobile. The Louisville and Nashville local trains today were able to reach only as far north as Ocean Springs. No attempt to run through trains was made.

Ten freight cars were derailed on the New Orleans and Northeastern railroad just south of Poplarville, La., today when a trestle weakened by high water gave way. This necessitated rerouting the northeastern trains over the Illinois Central and Gulf and Ship Island tracks. It was expected the trestle would soon be restored.

The tropical disturbance still persists in the central gulf states, causing rains. Birmingham reports 6.7 inches rainfall in twenty-four hours and Montgomery 5.08 inches in the same length of time. Phoenix, Arizona, reports a temperature of 110 degrees. Owing to these conditions with a more or less stagnation of pressure, the same kind of weather may be anticipated.

Local Readings. Local readings for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. yesterday: Maximum temperature 88 degrees at 4 p. m., minimum 75 at 6 a. m., barometer 29.90, humidity 40, wind passage 108 miles, 8 miles being the fastest at 12 o'clock noon.

New York, July 7.—Health authorities of New York decided late tonight to abandon for the present at least a plan to appeal to the American Red Cross for nurses to aid in stamping out the scourge of infantile paralysis in this city, which since June 1 has caused 196 deaths among children. Health Commissioner Emerson said he was now of the opinion it would not be necessary to ask for outside aid, as the hospitals of this city have agreed to extend their help more freely.

Fewer new cases were reported today than on Thursday and Wednesday. A serious phase of the situation was reported today by the Association for Improving the condition of the poor, which has found that in the congested districts frightened mothers have interned their children in their tenement homes, in many instances with windows closed.

Such action, it was pointed out, is likely to have serious effects not only on the children, but on adults as well. Children's reading rooms in the public library have been ordered closed as a precautionary measure and the order will not be modified until conditions improve. Playgrounds in various parts of the city were ordered closed earlier in the day. The proposal for a general quarantine of the city was abandoned as impracticable.

Dr. Emerson frankly admitted his department has been unable to determine the actual cause of the epidemic.

Another Case in Cleveland. Cleveland, July 7.—One more case of infantile paralysis developed here today, making six in all. There have been no deaths here from the disease.

Two Cases in Philadelphia. Philadelphia, July 7.—A case of infantile paralysis in South Bethlehem and another in this city have been reported.

Few Cases in York State. Albany, N. Y., July 7.—According to reports received at state health department headquarters up to 6 o'clock tonight, there are only forty-five cases of infantile paralysis in the state, outside of Greater New York. Eight new cases were reported during the forenoon.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS.

Senate. Continued consideration of agricultural appropriation bill. Commerce committee discussed government shipping bill. Receded at 6:03 p. m. until 11 a. m. Saturday.

House. Resumed debate on administration revenue bill. Adjourned at 5:58 p. m. until 11 a. m. Saturday.

BRITISH RESUME SLEDGEHAMMER BLOWS

GERMAN TRENCHES CARRIED BY ASSAULT AT THREE POINTS ALONG FRONT.

Russians and Italians Also Claim Successes Against the Teutons.

The British have resumed their sledge-hammer blows against the German lines in the Somme sector and after a day of terrific fighting have carried the German trenches at three points along the front. Latest reports from British headquarters say that fierce fighting is continuing.

The British gains, while not resulting in any substantial advance, are characterized by the war office as important from a tactical viewpoint.

Their greatest success was extent of Lailloiselle, where they captured German trenches in extent of nearly 2,000 yards and to a depth of 500 yards. This gain is in addition to 1,000 yards of trenches taken by assault Thursday night.

The bitterest fighting of the day occurred on the center of the line of attack, about the two villages of Ovillers and Contalmaison. A British brigade forced its way to Ovillers and engaged in a desperate struggle for possession of the village.

At Contalmaison a division of the Prussian guards was hurled into the fight to check the British advance after the village had been carried by assault. Contalmaison was recaptured, but 700 prisoners were left in the hands of the British.

On the French end of the Somme sector there was a lull in the fighting. The French official report does not even mention the usual artillery duels which fill the intervals between infantry assaults.

The violence of the British offensive failed, however, to divert the attention of the Germans from their desperate efforts to capture Verdun. Assault after assault was delivered against the French lines in the sorely battered Thiaumont region, but according to Paris all were in vain.

Surpassing even in importance the tentative allies' great effort on the western front, the news from the eastern battlefield shows that the Russians have extended their offensive on an unprecedented scale.

On the whole front from Riga to Baranovichi, a distance of 300 miles, the Russians are being hurled against the German lines. Further south General Kaledines is driving steadily forward toward Kovyl and has captured two villages and a railroad station on the Sarny-Kovyl road.

Military critics of the allies assert that unless the Germans can halt the Russian advance in the immediate future they will have to withdraw their lines along the entire eastern front and probably abandon Lemberg.

The German official report of Friday admits the abandoning of a salient to General Kaledines, but both German and Russian official statements fail to give a clear idea of the exact situation in the east.

The Italians claim continued progress for their offensive in the Trentino district, but there apparently has been no great change in this field of the war.

B. Y. P. U. Chooses Detroit. Chicago, July 7.—Detroit, Michigan, was selected as the next convention place for the Baptist Young People's Union of America in the second day's session of that organization's silver jubilee here.

E. A. Hanley, president of Franklin college, of Franklin, Ind., was the principal speaker before the convention, touching upon world events and the obligation of the Baptist church and religion generally in that connection. He declared that if "the churches do not bring about peace in Europe the labor organizations will and the church will have lost its biggest opportunity."

Will Vote on Shipping Bill. Washington, July 7.—An effort by republican senators to provide agreement by which action on the government shipping bill would be postponed until the next session of congress failed today when administration senators announced that the measure would be pressed regardless of threats of a filibuster. It was declared democratic opposition virtually had been overcome by amendments which will not materially alter the principal features of the bill.

High Priced, at That. New York, July 7.—Mexican money having a face value of 405,440 pesos brought $54,792 at an auction sale here today. The money represented issues of several Mexican banks.

GERMAN LINES FERCELY ATTACKED ON EASTERN AND WESTERN FRONTS AT ONCE

GREAT BRITAIN HAS PLENTY OF AMMUNITION

If Necessary, "Such a Supply of Guns That Limbers Shall Touch Each Other in Continuous Line from Somme to Sea," Will Be Provided, Declares Important Official in English Ministry of Munitions—Russia and Japan Sign Another Treaty, Strengthening Entente Alliance.

London, July 7.—The head of the German staff must be faced with difficult and perplexing problems at the present moment. He must decide how best to utilize Germany's available military resources.

Never before in the history of the war has Germany been called upon to meet a strong double offensive on both the western and eastern fronts. General Haig's "we resume a vigorous offensive at dawn" coming on top of the opening of a new offensive against Field Marshal Hindenburg by General Evert is a new experience for the German staff.

General Evert's attack is being made on a hundred mile front running approximately from the Vilna line north to Baranovichi in the south. The seriousness of the crisis is reflected in the paucity of information given the German public in Berlin's official bulletins which, however, at last, admit the loss of Hem and Belloy on the western front.

There is no confirmation of the report from Rome that the whole of the Italian front is now in the hands of the Russians continue to report success after success.

The latest official German statement admits a retirement from a salient in the Czartorysk region and the Russian statement tonight announces that Russian cavalry has captured Mamevitchi, which is only some fifty miles from Kovyl.

Clearly the Russian offensive towards Baranovichi, Kovyl and Lemberg, ded to the collapse of the Austro-Hungarian empire, is a greatly endangers the whole German lines. Heavy fighting continues along the whole line and the Russians are adding to their captures of prisoners and booty hourly. Prisoners captured by the Russians during the past few days number nearly 20,000.

The question whether Great Britain will be able to maintain an adequate supply of ammunition for the present rate of wastage, received an answer in part today from Frederick G. Kellaway, M. P., secretary to Dr. Christopher Addison, who next to David Lloyd George, the most important official in the ministry of munitions. Mr. Kellaway says:

"We are not yet at the full flood of our output of guns and shells. If the Germans cannot be driven home otherwise, our army shall have such a supply of guns that the limbers shall touch each other in a continuous line from the Somme to the sea."

He added that ninety new arsenals had been provided and that 4,000 controlled firms are producing munitions. The total number of munitions workers in Great Britain was under 2,000,000 and there are now 3,500,000. The labor problem, Mr. Kellaway asserted, has been to a large extent solved by the women. Like over the war 184,000 women were engaged in war industries. There are now 556,000 so engaged.

Much interest is attached to the new Russo-Japanese treaty, which, according to an authoritative Japanese source here, effectively dispels any hope Germany may have of a separate peace.

Paris, July 7.—The battle was suspended along the French section of the front today. The Germans were too badly hammered yesterday to be in a position to continue counter attacks and the French were left molested to make careful preparations for the second phase of their offensive. In accordance with the new strategy of the allies the second thrust of the French will not begin until the British have advanced their line.

Another reason the Germans were obliged to hold their hand is that they have not yet rearranged their communications which were thrown out of gear by the rapidity of the initial French drive. Chaulnes, the great junction on the Amiens-Rheims-Chaumont transverse railroad upon which the Germans depend for concentrating troops is no longer safe. Reinforcements and supplies are being detained further east of Nesle, Voves and Heim, which points are being incessantly bombarded by French aeroplanes. The latter two stations were completely burned yesterday and the track damaged.

The fiercest fighting Thursday occurred at Belloy, which the Germans attacked six times, the seventeenth Bavarian division suffering great losses. The most violent attack was made on a slight salient which the French line forms between Belloy and Estrees.

The attack was made by two regiments in massed formation. They struggled heroically through the infernal curtain fire of the French artillery which tore gaps in their ranks. They even made some way forward in the face of a hail of bullets from machine guns, but as soon as they came within striking distance, the Frenchmen sprang from the trenches and scattered the remnant of the brigade with the bayonet.

many may have held of seducing any member of the entente alliance and it is the strongest possible reply to the numerous offers which have been made to both Japan and Russia with a view to bringing about a separate peace. Little is known yet of the casualties suffered in the British offensive in France. The first list was published tonight and names over two hundred officers, of whom twenty-five were killed. It says 1,700 men were killed or wounded. Among the killed was Col. Robert Jeffray Douglas.

NATIONAL B. Y. P. U. ELECTS A TEXAN AS ONE OF VICE PRESIDENTS.

Chicago, July 7.—H. B. Osgood of Chicago, a layman, today was elected president of the Baptist Young People's Union of America. Rev. L. R. Scarborough of Texas was named a vice president. In an address on the Mexican situation, Rev. J. B. Cranfill of Dallas, Texas, declared that the people of Texas felt there was no alternative except American intervention and that the desire for conquest was absolutely foreign to any Texan or right thinking American.

"Bullets and Bibles" were the weapons he spoke of as necessary to bring about peace to its inhabitants.

Rebuttal Testimony Being Introduced in Orpet Trial

Waukegan, Ill., July 7.—Testimony in rebuttal was begun today in the trial of Wm. H. Orpet, charged with the murder of Marion Lambert. Among the witnesses was Mrs. Margaret Youker, sister-in-law of Celestia Youker, with whom Orpet testified he had an understanding in the nature of an engagement.

Mrs. Youker admitted having aided in an attempt by States Attorney Dudy and his assistant, David R. Joslyn, to trap Orpet into a confession shortly after his arrest.

Arredondo Transmits American Note to Mexico City, in Which Suggestion Is Made That No Time Be Wasted in Threshing Out Differences and Plans for Border Protection.

Washington, July 7.—Inception of diplomatic conversations, which it is hoped, will result in a settlement of the differences between the United States and the de facto government of Mexico awaited tonight a suggestion from General Carranza as to how they should proceed. State department officials believe more can be accomplished through informal conferences between Eliseo Arredondo, Mexican ambassador designate, and Frank L. Polk, acting secretary of state, than by a more formal exchange of views. They are willing to accede, however, to some other plan should the de facto government propose it.

Mr. Arredondo transmitted to his government today a brief and friendly note from Secretary Lansing expressing gratification over the turn of affairs between the two governments has taken and accepting proposals for diplomatic settlement of points in dispute. The communication was approved by the cabinet before it was sent to the Mexican embassy. The text follows:

TEXT OF LATEST NOTE TO CARRANZA.

"Sir: I have the honor of acknowledge the receipt of your communication of July 4, 1916, in which you transcribe a note addressed to me by the secretary of foreign relations of your government and to request that you will transmit to him the following reply:

"Mr. Secretary: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your courteous note transmitted to me by Senator Arredondo on the fourth instant in which you refer to my notes of June 29 and June 25 and to assure you of the sincere gratification of my government at the frank statement of the difficulties which have unfortunately arisen in our relations along the international boundary and the unreserved expression of the desire of your government to reach an adjustment of these difficulties on a broad and amicable basis. The spirit of friendship and of solicitude for the continuance of cordial relations between our two countries inspires my government which equally desires a solution of the matters of difference which have long vexed both governments.

"It is especially pleasing to my government that the de facto government of Mexico is disposed to give quick and as well as practical consideration in a spirit of concord to the remedies which may be applied to the existing conditions.

Reciprocating the same desire, the government of the United States is prepared immediately to exchange views as to a practical plan to remove finally and prevent a recurrence of the difficulties which have been the source of the controversy.

STRESS LAID ON QUICK ACTION.

Officials did not fail to note Secretary Lansing had laid stress upon the desirability of giving quick and practical consideration to the immediate conditions along the border which have been the source of controversy. The language of the communication plainly indicates a speedy solution of the problem will be sought, whatever time may be allowed afterward to find a means of aiding the de facto government in restoring normal economic conditions throughout Mexico. The definition of the border dispute submitted by General Carranza in his note suggesting negotiations for a settlement apparently has been found acceptable by the Washington government. This virtually narrows the immediate objective of the negotiators to considerations of the "reasonable anxiety of the United States for the security of its frontier on the one hand and the desire of the de facto government for early withdrawal of American troops from Mexico on the other.

Additional evidence of the more friendly attitude of the Carranza government came today in the form of a warning transmitted at the direction of General Carranza that bandits who recently defeated government troops at a battle near the Big Bend region in Texas.

At the same time the state department received a report from an American in Mexico that he had seen and talked with Villa near Corralitos, a few days before the fight reported in the Carranza message. Officials were pleased at the indication that General Carranza was disposed to seek co-operation in protecting the border. They saw in the warning, however, a frank admission that bandits still are active in the territory over which the de facto government repeatedly has claimed military control. This may have an important bearing on the diplomatic discussions.

The state department received information today that many Americans who hastened to the border or the sea coast when the crisis weakened by high water gave way. This necessitated rerouting the northeastern trains over the Illinois Central and Gulf and Ship Island tracks. It was expected the tangle would soon be restored.

The British have resumed their sledge-hammer blows against the German lines in the Somme sector and after a day of terrific fighting have carried the German trenches at three points along the front. Latest reports from British headquarters say that fierce fighting is continuing.

The British gains, while not resulting in any substantial advance, are characterized by the war office as important from a tactical viewpoint.

Their greatest success was extent of Laloiselle, where they captured German trenches in extent of nearly 2,000 yards and to a depth of 500 yards. This gain is in addition to 1,000 yards of trenches taken by assault Thursday night.

The bitterest fighting of the day occurred on the center of the line of attack, about the two villages of Ovillers and Contalmaison. A British brigade forced its way to Ovillers and engaged in a desperate struggle for possession of the village.

At Contalmaison a division of the Prussian guards was hurled into the fight to check the British advance after the village had been carried by assault. Contalmaison was recaptured, but 700 prisoners were left in the hands of the British.

On the French end of the Somme sector there was a lull in the fighting. The French official report does not even mention the usual artillery duels which fill the intervals between infantry assaults.

The violence of the British offensive failed, however, to divert the attention of the Germans from their desperate efforts to capture Verdun. Assault after assault was delivered against the French lines in the sorely battered Thiaumont region, but according to Paris all were in vain.

Surpassing even in importance the entire allies' great effort on the western front, the news from the eastern battlefield shows that the Russians have extended their offensive on an unprecedented scale.

On the whole front from Riga to Baranovich, a distance of 300 miles; the Russians are being hurled against the German lines. Further south General Kaledines is driving steadily forward toward Kovyl and has captured two villages and a railroad station on the Sarny-Kovyl road.

Military critics of the allies assert that unless the Germans can halt the Russian advance in the immediate future they will have to withdraw their lines along the entire eastern front and probably abandon Lemberg.

The German official report of Friday admitted the alarming situation in the Trentino district, but there apparently has been no great change in this field of the war.

B. Y. P. U. Chooses Detroit. Chicago, July 7.—Detroit, Michigan, was selected as the next convention place for the Baptist Young People's Union of America in the second year's session of that organization's silver jubilee here.

E. A. Hanley, president of Franklin college of Franklin, Ind., was the principal speaker before the convention. Touching upon world events and the obligation of the Baptist church and religion generally in that connection, he declared that "the churches do not bring about peace in Europe the labor organizations will and the church will have lost its biggest opportunity."

Will Vote on Shipping Bill. Washington, July 7.—An effort by republican senators to provide an agreement by which action on the government shipping bill would be postponed until the next session of congress failed today when administration senators announced that the measure would be pressed regardless of threats of a filibuster. It was declared democratic opposition virtually had been overcome by amendments which will not materially alter the principal features of the bill.

GREAT BRITAIN HAS PLENTY OF AMMUNITION

If Necessary, "Such a Supply of Guns That Limbers Shall Touch Each Other in Continuous Line from Somme to Sea," Will Be Provided, Declares Important Official in English Ministry of Munitions—Russia and Japan Sign Another Treaty, Strengthening Entente Alliance.

London, July 7.—The head of the German staff must be faced with difficult and perplexing problems at the present moment. He must decide how best to utilize Germany's available military resources.

Never before in the history of the war has Germany been called upon to meet a strong double offensive on both the western and eastern fronts. General Haig's "we resume a vigorous offensive at dawn" coming on top of the opening of a new offensive against Field Marshal Hindenburg by General Evert is a new experience for the German staff.

General Evert's attack is being made on a hundred mile front running approximately from the Vilna line north to Baranovich in the south. The seriousness of the crisis is reflected in the paucity of information given the German public in Berlin's official bulletins which, however, at last, admit the loss of Hem and Belloy on the western front.

There is no confirmation of the report from Rome that the whole German line on the eastern front is retreating but the Russians continue to report success after success. The latest official German statement admits a retirement from a salient in the Czartorysk region and the Russian statement tonight announced that Russian cavalry has captured Mamevitch, which is only some fifty miles from Kovyl.

Clearly the Russian offensive towards Baranovich, Kovyl and Lemberg, led to the collapse of the Austro-German lines. Heavy fighting continues along the whole line and the Russians are adding to their capture of prisoners and booty hourly. Prisoners captured by the Russians during the past few days number nearly 20,000.

The question whether Great Britain will be able to supply an adequate supply of ammunition at the present rate of wastage, received an answer in part today from Frederick G. Kellaway, M. P., secretary to Dr. Christopher Addison, who next to David Lloyd George is the most important official in the ministry of munitions. Mr. Kellaway says:

"We are not yet at the full flood of our output of guns and shells and the Germans cannot be driven home otherwise, our army shall have such a supply of guns that the limbers shall touch each other in a continuous line from the Somme to the sea."

He added that ninety new arsenals had been provided and that 4,000 controlled firms are producing munitions. The total number of munitions workers in 1914, he said, was under 2,000, and there are now 3,500,000. The labor problem, Mr. Kellaway asserted, has been to a large extent solved by the women. Before the war 184,000 women were engaged in war industries. There are now 686,000 so engaged.

Much interest is attached to the new Russo-Japanese treaty, which, according to an authoritative Japanese source here, effectively dispels any hope Germany may have of a separate peace.

Paris, July 7.—The battle was suspended along the French section of the line in Picardy today. The Germans were too badly hammered yesterday to be in a position to continue counter attacks and the French were left unmolested to make careful preparations for the second phase of their offensive. In accordance with the new strategy of the allies the second thrust of the French will not begin until the British have advanced their line.

Another reason the Germans were obliged to hold their hand is that they have not yet rearranged their communications which were thrown off gear by the rapidity of the initial French drive. Chaulnes, the great junction on the Amiens-Rheims-Chaumont transverse railroad upon which the Germans depend for concentrating troops is no longer safe. Reinforcements and supplies are being detained further east of Nesle, Voyennes and many may have held of seducing any member of the entente alliance and it is the strongest possible reply to the numerous offers which have been made to both Japan and Russia with a view to bringing about a separate peace. Little is known yet of the casualties suffered in the British offensive in France. The first list was published tonight and names over two hundred officers, of whom twenty-five were killed, says 1,700 men were killed or wounded. Among the killed was Col. Robert Jeffray Douglas.

People of Texas for Intervention, Says Dr. Cranfill

NATIONAL B. Y. P. U. ELECTS A TEXAN AS ONE OF VICE PRESIDENTS.

Chicago, July 7.—H. B. Osgood of Chicago, a layman, today was elected president of the Baptist Young People's Union of America. Rev. L. R. Scarborough of Texas was named a vice president. In an address on the Mexican situation, Rev. J. B. Cranfill of Dallas, Texas, declared that the people of Texas felt there was no alternative except American intervention and that the desire for conquest was absolutely foreign to any Texan of right thinking Americans. "Bullets and Bibles" were the weapons he spoke of as necessary to be used against Mexico in bringing contentment and peace to its inhabitants.

Rebuttal Testimony Being Introduced in Orpet Trial

Waukegan, Ill., July 7.—Testimony in rebuttal was begun today in the trial of Wm. H. Orpet, charged with the murder of Marion Lambert. Among the witnesses was Mrs. Margaret Youker, sister-in-law of Celestia Youker, with whom Orpet testified he had an understanding in the nature of an engagement. Mrs. Youker admitted having aided in an attempt by Stanley Adams and his assistant, David R. Joelyn, to trap Orpet into a confession shortly after his arrest.

Kingsville Woman Killed by Shock

Kingsville, Tex., July 7.—Shock following an explosion of coal oil with which she was attempting to start a fire in the kitchen stove, was almost instantly fatal to Mrs. E. B. Scarborough, 24, at her home near Riviera this afternoon. She was only slightly burned. The dead woman's uncle is sheriff of Kleburg county.

Funston's Men on Watch for Rumord Villa Raid

San Antonio, Tex., July 7.—Careful attention was paid by General Funston and his staff today to every morsel of information coming out of Mexico relating to renewed activity of the organized bandits in the state of Chihuahua. Unconfirmed reports supplied some reason for believing that they are directed and possibly led in person by Francisco Villa. Carranza's official notification that the force that destroyed General Ramos' force near Jimenez might be moving north with the object of raiding the American side of the river was borne out to some extent by information reaching the intelligence department of the American army but the American sources of information also had reports that instead of moving northward the bandits were swinging towards the south and west towards Parral.

The mobilization of national guardsmen dragged a little today due to the delays in several states where guardsmen are not yet ready to start south. As fast as notification that guardsmen are ready to move General Funston was prepared to assign them to stations. The last of the Illinois national guard reached here today.

Due to the presence of two major generals of the national guard, General Parker and General George Bell of the regular army, but ranking only as brigadiers, have found a large part of the guardsmen sent to their districts reporting directly to the ranking civilian officers. Major General O'Ryan, commanding a New York division that was sent to the Brownsville district, has received instructions to report directly to General Funston. Those units of the guardsmen not of that division are under direct orders of General Parker. The other case is that of Major General Clemens, commanding Pennsylvania troops at El Paso, the district commanded by General Bell. General Clemens has been instructed to report to department headquarters.

BATTLESHIP TEXAS AMONG EXCELLENT IN TARGET PRACTICE

Washington, July 7.—Secretary Daniels sent to the senate today a report on target practice efficiency of the Atlantic and Pacific fleets in 1915-1916. The secretary explained that the grades given were established by Admiral Mayo to bring to the attention of the individual ships the general character of their work.

Battleships of the Atlantic fleet were graded as follows:

Excellent—Arkansas, Georgia, New York and Texas.

Good—Delaware, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Wyoming.

Fair—Nebraska and New Jersey.

Unsatisfactory—Louisiana, South Carolina and Utah.

Poor—Florida, Kansas, Michigan and Virginia.

In the performance of armored ships of the Pacific fleet, the cruiser San Diego was rated as excellent.

The senate referred the report to the naval affairs committee.

Covington Bridges All Swept Away

New Orleans, July 7.—The four bridges which connect Covington, La., with the outside world were swept away early tonight by overflow waters from Tchoudja and Bogue Bayou rivers, according to telephone reports received tonight. No lives were lost. The property damage estimated at less than $50,000 was confined to the bridges destroyed and about twenty miles of new shell roads which were washed out.

Heavy rains of last night and today caused the rivers which normally are little more than creeks, flow out of their banks. Telephone and telegraph lines were intact tonight and it is thought that there would be no interruption in wire communication.

Covington is about seventy miles north of New Orleans and about fifteen miles from the northern shore of Lake Pontchartrain. Many New Orleans residents maintain summer homes there.

Pershing Continues to Amass Supplies

Columbus, N. M., July 7.—Gen. J. J. Pershing, commanding the American expeditionary force in Mexico, is continuing to pile up supplies at his field bases. Several motor truck trains carrying thousands of pounds of supplies and munitions left Columbus today for the field.

Reports from the field today indicated also that the daily drilling of the expeditionary soldiers continues and that the command now drawn into a compact line is being prepared for an active campaign should the necessity develop.

Double Pursuit of Mexican Raiders

Nogales, Ariz., July 7.—Reports of a raid by Mexican horse thieves on ranch three miles east of Nogales today resulted in both American and Mexican forces being dispatched to round them up.

The bandits drove twelve horses from the ranch of Frank Ake into a corral about 100 yards south of the line. A force of four deputies and Arizona rangers went out from here with the announced intention of bringing the horses back to Col. W. H. Sage communicated with the Mexican military authorities who announced they had sent soldiers in automobiles to try to cut off the thieves' escape to the south.

British Take More of Leipzig Redoubt

London, July 7.—The British troops in their new advance have gained several important successes against the German capture of a further portion of an immensely strong position, known as the Leipzig redoubt, in the east of the last line sent to Washington, according to a statement issued by the London war office tonight.

East of La Basseville the British have captured German trenches on a front of nearly 2,000 yards to a depth of 500 yards. In the direction of Orléans the British have forced their way into the German front, capturing 500 yards of the German front.

Reports of Ericourt the British drove the enemy from two woods and captured three lines of trenches.

An attempt by the Prussian guards to stem the advance east of Combaillon was crushed by the British fire and 700 prisoners of various regiments were taken. The German command was captured but was retaken by the Germans in a strong counter attack.

The company asks the men who receive the ballots to vote against the strike.

SCHOOL TEACHERS' UNIONS ARE LAUDED

SAMUEL GOMPERS TELLS EDUCATORS ORGANIZED LABOR IS WITH THEM.

Efforts of Philanthropic Organizations to Dominate Schools Decried.

New York, July 7.—School teachers who have organized unions were lauded by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in an address here tonight before the National Education association. He declared organized labor has nothing to offer teachers except "opportunities for freedom." The labor leader warned educators to beware of philanthropic organizations and "foundations" which seek to dominate the educational field.

"The wage earners are more vitally interested in securing the right kind of instruction in public schools than any other group of citizens," Mr. Gompers said. "The public schools are the only educational institutions available for their children and for them."

"You know how the organized labor movement has stood like adamant against all foes to pervert industrial education and vocational training along lines and tendencies that would make education of this nature only another opportunity to exploit the workers."

"Because of the great power which has been entrusted to educational institutions there are many efforts made to dominate educational institutions. Your organization has officially gone on record as opposed to all such efforts to dominate the public schools in this country whether exercised by so-called philanthropic organizations, foundations or any other agency. The organized labor movement is with you in that purpose. Our experiences with the exploiting forces in the industrial and commercial field make us keen to defend them when exercised in other relations of life. We have opposed from the beginning efforts of these 'foundations' to secure legislation granting them the right to incorporate into federal laws and thus dominate our whole educational system."

"If you wish to be free, if you wish to be independent to perform the great work intrusted to you nobly and for the best interests of the citizenry of this country, join with us for your and our common protection and betterment."

Bull Moose Chairman Not for Hughes

New York, July 7.—Matthew Hale of Boston, acting chairman of the progressive national committee, made public today a statement criticizing the endorsement of Charles E. Hughes by the committee. He had conferred recently with Vance McCormick, chairman of the democratic national committee.

Mr. Hale asserted that neither delegates to the progressive national convention nor members of the state organizations were consulted before the republican candidate was endorsed by the national committee. He said:

"An attempt by a small group to deliver the progressive party organization to the republican candidate in a manner which violates one of the fundamental principles of the progressive party, is an affront to the sincerity of the progressives."

Believe Two Ships Lost at Gulfport

New Orleans, July 7.—Reports from Gulfport, Miss., tonight stated that the American schooner Mary G. Dantzer and the Norwegian schooner Anesia and an unidentified two-masted vessel are believed to have been lost off Ship Island. Each of the vessels carried crews of twelve men.

The four-masted barkentine John W. Meyers and the pilot boat E. E. Barry are beached on Ship Island and a lumber barge was sunk near the island.

The property loss at Gulfport is estimated at $25,000.

Sonora Is Turning Against Carranza

Douglas, Ariz., July 7.—Anti-Carranza sentiment is becoming apparent among Mexican residents in portions of Sonora, as a result of the friendly tone of the last note sent to Washington, according to Mexicans reaching here today from Nogales, seventy-five miles south of the border. Nacozari, they said, was crowded with refugees.

The four Mexicans confirmed reports previously received from Fronteras and Cajalapa that the Mexican soldiers at these points were as civilians have been placed on limited rations.

This feeling was heightened by the receipt of telegrams from the governors of the different states congratulating the de facto government on the favorable response of the government of the United States.

Still Fighting at Thiaumont

Paris, July 7.—Repeated and violent attacks by the Germans on the French positions at Thiaumont enabled them to obtain a footing in the French advanced trenches, but they were driven out by a counter attack, according to the official statement issued by the French war office tonight. No action is reported from the Somme sector.

CIVIC CENTER DECIDES WIFE DUE AN ALLOWANCE

Debate Features an Interesting Meeting of North Waco Association.

"Should a Wife Have an Allowance?" was the question debated at the program of the North Waco civic center last night and aroused considerable interest. The meeting proved to be one of the most interesting sessions during the season. The debate subject called for some strong arguments on both sides, but the affirmative side won all three decisions of the judges, two of whom were women.

Shafter and Strubling gave a mandolin and guitar duet that was greatly appreciated, and Miss Scales, who has recently returned home from the Rice Institute at Houston, gave several piano selections. Rev. J. F. Gormley gave a stereoscopic lecture on Yellowstone park. The social feature proved very pleasing.

Officers of the association declared that the attendance and interest at the meeting showed the feasibility of continuing the meetings during the summer. One of the Baylor professors will be asked to address the next meeting of the civic center and the orchestra promises some appealing music for the next meeting.

Two auto delivery wagons, several head of hogs and considerable feed-stuff were destroyed in a fire which consumed a large barn of the I. W. The blaze was rather difficult to handle, but a prompt alarm confined the damage to the barn. Insurance partly covered the losses. Several horses in the barn were removed in time to save them.

WHEAT AND OATS PROSPECTS IMPROVE

Washington, July 7.—Growing conditions during June improved the prospects of the wheat and oat crops. The department of agriculture in its July crop report today forecast the combined crop of winter and spring wheat at 759,000,000 bushels, which is 44,000,000 bushels more than predicted last month, and increased the estimate of the final yield of oats to 1,317,000 bushels, or 62,000,000 bushels more than forecast in June.

A slight increase in area planted to corn this year was reported and a crop of 2,866,000,000 bushels which, with favorable conditions, might exceed last year's 3,065,000,000-bushel record crop, was forecast. The condition of corn was reported as slightly better than last year on July 10, but was about 2 per cent below the ten-year average for July 1.

Potatoes this year are growing on a slightly smaller acreage than last year, but their condition indicates a crop of 369,000,000 bushels, or 10,000,000 bushels more than last year.

Indications are that tobacco production will be a record one.

Forecast of crop production based on conditions July 1 were announced as follows:

Winter wheat 489,000,000 bushels, spring wheat 270,000,000 bushels; all wheat 759,000,000 bushels. Would Bar Letters and Post Cards With Liquor Ads

Washington, July 7.—Senator Smith of Georgia today urged the senate post-office committee for an early report on his bill to bar letters, postal cards, circulars or pamphlets advertising intoxicating liquors from the mails in states where such advertising is prohibited. The senator pointed out that the measure would not affect the circulation of newspapers carrying liquor advertisements but would "get at the root of the evil, the postal cards, pamphlets and circular letters sent to citizens and particularly the youths of the prohibition states advertising liquors and quoting price lists which we wish to stop."

Wind Plays Havoc Through Alabama

Montgomery, Ala., July 7.—Heavy rains and high winds have wrought much damage throughout central and southern Alabama during the past 24 hours, according to reports received here. Several tornadoes struck various sections of the state, including a suburb of this city. No loss of life was reported today. A report last night that seventeen negroes were killed at Eufaula in Dallas county could not be confirmed today.

A windstorm in the southeastern section of Montgomery wrecked a number of small residences occupied by negroes and killed a negro church from its foundation, depositing it on top of an adjoining residence. Four negroes were injured. Six miles from Montgomery the wind blew away the home of a planter on the Teasley place, leaving two small children uninjured on the floor playing in front of the fire place. A tornado struck Lowndesboro and wrecked practically every house in the town. Mrs. Charles Smith was badly injured. Tallapoosa suffered heavy property loss and the telephone and telegraph companies report damage in the southern part of the state.

Southern Pacific Asks Employees to Vote Against Strike

San Francisco, July 7.—The Southern Pacific company posted in depots and engine houses throughout its system today an appeal to its 52,500 employees to use their influence to avert a threatened strike of engineers, firemen, conductors, trainmen and switchmen. The poster states that strike leaders have been sent out to the members of the unions threatening the strike who constitute 12 1/2 per cent of its employees. The company asks the men who receive the ballots to vote against the strike.

BATTLESHIP TEXAS AMONG EXCELLENT IN TARGET PRACTICE

Washington, July 7.—Secretary Daniels sent to the senate today a report on target practice efficiency of the Atlantic and Pacific fleets in 1915-1916. The secretary explained that the grades given were established by Admiral Mayo to bring to the attention of the individual ships the general character of their work.

Battleships of the Atlantic fleet were graded as follows:

Fair—Nebraska and New Jersey.

Unsatisfactory—Louisiana, South Carolina and Utah.

Poor—Florida, Kansas, Michigan and Virginia.

In the performance of armored ships of the Pacific fleet, the cruiser San Diego was rated as excellent.

Covington Bridges All Swept Away

New Orleans, July 7.—The four bridges which connect Covington, La., with the outside world were swept away early tonight by overflow waters from the Atchafalaya and Iberville rivers, according to telephone reports received tonight. No lives were lost. The property damage estimated at less than $50,000 was confined to the bridges destroyed and about twenty miles of new shell roads which were washed out.

Heavy rains of last night and today caused the rivers which normally are little more than creeks to flow out of their banks. Telephone and telegraph lines were intact tonight and it is thought that there would be no interruption in wire communication.

Columbus, N. M., July 7.—Gen. J. J. Pershing, commanding the American expeditionary force in Mexico, is continuing to pile up supplies at his field base. Several motor truck trains carrying thousands of pounds of supplies and munitions left Columbus today for the field.

Double Pursuit of Mexican Raiders

Nogales, Ariz., July 7.—Reports of a raid by Mexican horse thieves on a ranch three miles east of Nogales today resulted in both American and Mexican forces being dispatched to round them up.

The bandits drove twelve horses from the ranch of Frank Ake into a corral about 100 yards south of the line. A force of four deputies and Arizona rangers went out from here with the announced intention of bringing the horses back. Col. W. H. Savage communicated with the Mexican military authorities who announced they had sent soldiers in automobiles to try to cut off the thieves' escape to the south.

British Take More of Leipzig Redoubt

London, July 7.—The British troops in their new advance have gained several trench positions, among which the capture of a further portion of an immensely strong position, known as the Leipzig redoubt, according to the official statement issued by the London war office tonight.

East of Leipzig the British have captured German trenches on a front of nearly 2000 yards to a depth of 500 yards. In the direction of Oelveres the British have forced their way into the village after capturing 500 yards of the German front.

South of Elricourt the British drove the enemy from two woods and captured three lines of trenches.

An attempt by the Prussian guards to stem the advance east of Contalmaison was crushed by the British fire and 700 prisoners of various regiments were taken. Contalmaison was carried by storm but was retaken by the Germans in a stronger counter attack.

Gompers Wants Big Union

Washington, July 7.—President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, today issued a statement addressed to the workers of all American countries, urging formation of a Pan-American Federation of Labor.

A Man's Meal for Five Cents. Living on mush makes a mushy man. A man who works with hand or brain must have a man's food. Two Shredded Wheat Biscuits with milk or cream will supply all the strength-giving nutriment needed for a half day's work or play at a cost of not over five cents. An ideal Summer food. Serve with sliced bananas, berries or other fruits.

SAMUEL GOMPERS TELLS EDUCATORS ORGANIZED LABOR IS WITH THEM.

Efforts of Philanthropic Organizations to Dominate Schools Decried.

New York, July 7.—School teachers who have organized unions were lauded by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in an address here tonight before the National Education association. He declared organized labor has nothing to offer teachers except "opportunities for freedom." The labor leader warned educators to beware of philanthropic organizations and "foundations" which seek to dominate the educational field.

"The wage earners are more vitally interested in securing the right kind of instruction in public schools than any other group of citizens," Mr. Gompers said. "The public schools are the only educational institutions available for their children and for them."

"You know how the organized labor movement has stood like adamant against all foes to pervert industrial education and vocational training along lines and tendencies that would make education of this nature only another opportunity to exploit the workers."

"Because of the great power which has been entrusted to educational institutions there are many efforts made to dominate educational institutions. Your organization has officially gone on record as opposed to all such efforts to dominate the public schools in this country whether exercised by so-called philanthropic organizations, foundations or any other agency. The organized labor movement is with you in that purpose. Our experiences with the exploiting forces in the industrial and commercial field make us keen to see that the public schools are the best interests of the citizenship of this country, join with us for your and our common protection and betterment."

Bull Moose Chairman Not for Hughes

New York, July 7.—Matthew Hale of Boston, acting chairman of the progressive national committee, made public today a statement criticizing the endorsement of Charles E. Hughes by the committee. He had conferred recently with Vance McCormick, chairman of the democratic national committee.

Mr. Hale asserted that neither delegates to the progressive national convention nor members of the state organizations were consulted before the republican candidate was endorsed by the national committee. He said:

"An attempt by a small group to deliver the progressive party organization to the republican candidate in a manner which violates one of the fundamental principles of the progressive party, is an affront to the sincerity of the progressive."

Believe Two Ships Lost at Gulfport

New Orleans, July 7.—Reports from Gulfport, Miss., tonight stated that the American schooner Mary G. Dantzer, the Norwegian schooner America, and an unidentified two-masted vessel are believed to have been lost off Ship Island. Each of the vessels carried crews of twelve men.

Sonora Is Turning Against Carranza

Douglas, Ariz., July 7.—Anti-Carranza sentiment is becoming apparent among Mexican residents in portions of Sonora, as a result of the friendly tone of the last note sent to Washington, according to Mexicans reaching here today from Nacozari, seventy-five miles south of the border. Nacozari, they said, was crowded with refugees.

The Mexicans confirmed reports previously received from Fronteras and Cajalapa that the Mexican soldiers at these places as well as civilians have been placed on limited rations.

Mexico City, July 7.—The note of Secretary Lansing accepting the proposal of General Carranza to resort to diplomacy for the settlement of the differences between Mexico and the United States was received with jubilation here. This feeling was heightened by the receipt of telegrams from the governors of the different states congratulating the de facto government on the favorable response of the government of the United States.

Still Fighting at Thiaumont. Paris, July 7.—Repeated and violent attacks by the Germans on the French positions at Thiaumont enabled them to obtain a footing in the French advanced trenches, but they were driven out by a counter attack, according to the official statement issued by the French war office tonight. CIVIC CENTER DECIDES WIFE DUE AN ALLOWANCE

Debate Features an Interesting Meeting of North Waco Association.

"Should a Wife Have an Allowance?" was the question debated at the program of the North Waco civic center last night and aroused considerable interest. The meeting proved to be one of the most interesting sessions during the season. The debate subject called for some strong arguments on both sides, but the affirmative side won all three decisions of the judges, two of whom were women.

Shafer and Stribling gave a mandolin and guitar duet that was greatly appreciated, and Miss Scales, who has recently returned home from the Rice Institute at Houston, gave several piano selections. Rev. J. F. Ghormley gave a stereoscopic lecture on Yellowstone park. The social feature proved very pleasing.

Officers of the association declared that the attendance and interest at the meeting showed the feasibility of continuing the meetings during the summer. One of the Baylor professors will be asked to address the next meeting of the civic center and the orchestra promises some appealing music for the next meeting.

Night Blaze Destroys I. W. Friedsam Barn

Two auto delivery wagons, several head of hogs and considerable feed-stuff were destroyed in a fire which consumed a large barn of the I. W. The blaze was rather difficult to handle, but a prompt alarm confined the damage to the barn. Insurance partly covered the losses. Several horses in the barn were removed in time to save them.

CRAVEN-COATES WEDDING QUIETLY SOLEMNIZED

A beautiful home wedding was quietly

solemnized on Thursday evening, when Miss Minnie Laurine Coates became the wife of Austin Glenn Craven of this city, and was witnessed only by relatives and a circle of intimate friends.

The artistic hands of the florist, Wolfe, had converted the wide gallery of this home into a palm garden which formed the setting for the bridal party. Guests were seated on the spacious lawn made bright with electric bulbs. It was here that the mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Coates, welcomed the guests, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Coates, grandparents of the bride.

Amid a hushed silence Mrs. Leslie R. Smith, the bride of a year in her own wedding gown, took stand beneath the arched palms and interpreted the good music which Mrs. Craven, the bride's mother, was the signal for the entrance of the young sister of the bride, Miss Marie Coates, with Sam Craven, brother of the groom. Miss Craven, the groom's sister, entered with Robert Lettwich. Both pretty bride's maids were girlish white organdy frocks, the short full skirts were ruffled, the ruffles edged all neatly with bright and ribbon. They carried arm bouquets of pink carnations and ferns.

These attendants preceded the bride and groom down the long stairs and on to the gallery where the ceremony was said, strictly in accordance with the setting for the enactment of life's love drama. Rev. H. C. Munger was the officiating minister.

The beauty of the bride was emphasized anew by her exquisite toilette. Miss Coates' costume was of silver lace built over a foundation of white satin. Her coronet veil was caught to her fair head with orange blossoms. Silver slippers and a colonial bouquet of white roses and ferns completed this perfect attire.

After the ceremony the guests were entertained informally in the room. The bride's relatives—this bride's room is furnished complete with hand-some furniture the further gift of relatives.

Dog Caught on Katy Bridge Saves Life

Collectors of information on animal intelligence would have been interested to note the apparent wisdom exercised by a medium-size dog which was caught midway of the Katy bridge over the Brazos by a long passenger train yesterday. The canine was owned by a track rider and he followed the velocipede of his master into trouble. Onlookers expected to find the dog ground to pieces after the long train had passed over, but instead they found the dog had scrouged down into a slight depression between the ties, and though slightly wounded, had managed to save his life. After a little rubbing from the hands of his master the dog whisked his tail gratefully and trotted alongside his owner.

HUNDREDS OF POST CARDS SECURED BY LEAGUE FOR TROOPS

Hundreds of post cards showing choice Waco scenes have been secured by the special committee of the Young Men's Business League, composed of W. V. Crawford and John F. Wright, for the soldiers boys passing through Waco on the troop trains. These have been placed in an envelope in lots of four, and the packet carries greetings from Waco and the league. Many of these were given out yesterday by members of the Red Cross, after having been stamped by President W. W. Seley of the local chapter. Hereafter they will be given out by the Boy Scouts, arrangements to this effect having been made yesterday by President Perry A. Duncan of the Y. M. B. L. It is believed that the soldiers will find the cards a needed courtesy to send the folks back home and that incidentally the scenes will inform others about the beauties of Waco.

CRAVEN-COATES WEDDING QUIETLY SOLEMNIZED

A beautiful home wedding was quietly

solemnized on Thursday evening, when Miss Minnie Laurine Coates became the wife of Austin Glenn Craven of this city, and was witnessed only by relatives and a circle of intimate friends.

The artistic hands of the florist, Kate Craven, had converted the wide gallery of this home into a palm garden which formed the setting for the bridal party. Guests were seated on the spacious lawn made bright with electric bulbs. It was here that the mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Coates, welcomed the guests, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Coates, grandparents of the bride.

Amid a hushed silence Mrs. Leslie R. Smith, the bride of a year in her sweetest voice and touch for the wedding of their eldest niece, Mendelssohn's wedding march was the signal for the entrance of the young sister of the bride, Miss Marie Coates, with Sam Craven, brother of the groom. Miss Kate Craven, the groom's sister, entered with Robert Lettich. Both pretty bride's maids were girlish white organdy frocks, the short full skirts neatly with lace and ribbon. They carried arm bouquets of pink carnations and ferns.

These attendants preceded the bride and groom down the long stairs and on to the gallery where the ceremony was said, stately palms forming a pretty setting for the enactment of life's love drama. Rev. H. C. Munger was the officiating minister.

The beauty of the bride was emphasized anew by her exquisite toilette. Miss Coates' costume was of silver lace tulle built over a foundation of white satin. Her coronet veil was caught to her fair head with orange blossoms. Silver slippers and a colonial bouquet of white roses and ferns completed this perfect attire.

After the ceremony the guests were entertained informally in the rooms where they viewed the many handsome gifts, among them a chest of silver from the groom's family, also a substantial check—another chest of silver from the bride's relatives—this bride's room is furnished complete with handsome furniture the further gift of relatives.

Daisies and ferns were used lavishly in decorating for the occasion. They were en masse on the table about the hand-painted punch bowl from which a

Judge Wilson of Houston made a vicious attack on the primary system
at the late meeting of the bar association at Galveston. When his complaints are analyzed, however, they are found to relate to the inherent weakness of individuals, rather than to the defects of the system. The convention
would have to carry all these burdens,
and many additional defects to which
it is peculiarly exposed. No system
can make an honest man of a crook or
entirely avoid the devices set for fraud.

It seems to have been forgotten in the discussion of court reforms that courts were instituted to settle con-

Whenever the court is organized to about procedure.

DAILY SHORT STORY.

HAPPINESS FIRST.

By ISABEL HARTWELL.

(Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Tom Wayne, why don't you get married and shoulder your share of responsibility?" Mrs. Estes put this question
to her son's chum, who was also her attorney.

"My dear Mrs. Estes, as a bachelor I can be nice to all the ladies, but once
I'm married I must limit my attentions
to the woman who consents to take me."
Tom smiled as Mrs. Estes pushed aside the papers they had been discussing.

"You're just beating about the bush
with that silly argument," Mrs. Estes was kind, but she continued her attack. "First thing you know you'll be
an old bachelor instead of just a bachelor, and if any girl takes you it will be for your money. Tom, you're the only man to dwell on the fact that you're old bachelor whom all the girls smile upon
in the open and frown upon in private."

"You're merciless, Mrs. Estes. Besides,
I'm only thirty-four, and not quite a nuisance even to the girls of twenty."
There was spirit in Tom's retort.

"I'm being purposely direct, Tom, for
you're just at the point where a man
begins to take up each younger set
of girls as they come on, and, once settled
in that habit, his doom is sealed. I want you to have a happier fate, and I want
some nice girl to have the happy fate
of becoming your wife while you're still
the charming Tom Wayne who is well-come everywhere." Her voice was full of feeling.

"I make my humble obeisance for the compliment, my lady and may I ask
whether you have a particular girl picked out for me?"

"No," shaking her head, "for the girls
nowadays are as busy upon putting off marriage as the men are. I know any number of nice girls who would make
good wives for men like you if both
of you would only throw aside those
foolish notions about not giving up your
so-called freedom."

"Bring 'em on in numbers as many as
you like," laughed Tom. "There's safety
in numbers, you know, but don't set me
adrift with some particular one."

"Is that a bargain, Tom?" demanded
Mrs. Estes.

"Yes, but what are you up to now?"

"I'm going to have seven girls at my country house for a girls' party tomorrow afternoon and evening. I dare you
to drop in unexpectedly for dinner."

"Dare me? I'll be there, and I'll not be bit scared, for seven is my lucky number." Both laughed as they bade each other good afternoon.

The next evening, as Tom Wayne
steered his gray roadster into the roadway that wound around the big trees up to the country home of Mrs. Estes and

FAITH NOT SHARED BY THE COUNTRY.

Washington again accepts the assurances of Carranza, and the events
which followed what was virtually a declaration of war by him are, to all practical intent, wiped out. The Carranza affair will apparently be ignored, and Carranza will be given the
moral support of our government.

This is, undoubtedly, an example of
patience and forbearance never before
set by a government. Time and again Carranza has flouted the Washington government, when it was actually seeking to aid him, and threats of war
against us have been frequently suspended by him to accuse the pretensions of his government's enemies and receive his wanted money. No spirit of leadership has appeared among the Mexicans who have so conspicuously
undermined this country as Carranza,
and no other revolutionary leader has made that question an issue. His first quarrel with Villa was the outgrowth of a seeming effort to start a war with the United States, which Villa disapproved. He has given this country every provocation to war which all
countries recognize as justifiable provocation. The attack at Carranza would have been accepted by every other country in the world as a signal for war.

These are conditions of which notice
must be taken. There may be something beneath the surface which induces the Washington government to prolong its faith in Carranza and his associates, but candor requires the declaration that no considerable element
in this country shares that faith. The belief is general that Carranza is merely playing with the Washington authorities, under stress of military necessity, that he is the inveterate foe of
this country, and that he only bides
his time to renew in every way possible the intrigues and harassments
which have already forced the massing
of 100,000 American troops on the border.

A simplified system of court procedure would cut off two-thirds of the work and expense in the trial court,
and four-fifths of the work and expense in the appellate court. The need of the hour is not more courts, but a change of procedure that will mean
less courts.

Carranza money has but little value
in most places in Mexico except when
its circulation is accelerated with a pointed rifle. Hence the report that Washington will give the de facto government financial aid may well inspire
Carranza to a friendly vocabulary—as long as the help lasts.

Savings accounts in Germany have increased during the war as never before. This is due to two causes: the disuse of intoxicants and the enforcement of rigid economy. The world
never estimates what it pays for whiskey and for ribbons until the rainy day
is here.

The bodies of the soldiers who were killed at Carrizal have been returned
to El Paso, and will be reinterred on American soil. Will their headstone say, "Gone and Forgotten?"

THE SOCIAL EFFECT.

The effect of war upon the social life
of the country is marked, and particularly upon the youth, is pitifully told by the mayor of Darmstadt in a Berlin Journal. He writes:

"No doubt it is the war spirit which swallows in these otherwise harmless boys wild desires that often assume ugly shapes. Nobody is here to watch them, and the fact that they have taken the places of grown-up men in office and factory has fostered in these youths an overweening opinion of
themselves."

"Such as the confession must be, in
many cases the mother herself, by misery or passion, has entered upon a life
of sin, and henceforth cannot exert
any more a restraining influence upon
her children."

"The schools are disorganized; the
majority of the teachers are in the trenches. Discipline is gone, and often
the school houses serve as barracks."
"From the police is helpless, for its
own ranks have been depleted and the small contingent left has its hands full
with matters which seem to them more important than the surveillance of ur-
chins and small girls."

"How can the evil be remedied? I think we should by law invest the teachers with sufficient police authority to enable them to cope with the new situation. If necessary, the military authorities ought to step in."

Judge Hellwig, a presiding judge in Berlin, takes a more hopeful view,
but he concedes that conditions are
very bad, and thus explains the cause:
"No doubt the number of thefts in forest and field and of assaults has
been increased through the very prevalence of the wild spirit of war permeating our whole national and private life. But we must not forget, on the other hand, that the continuous state of siege imposed upon our country has made it necessary to proclaim hundreds of new laws and ordinances and enforce old ones, so that we now consider as crime what we treated before the war as negligible misdemeanors. Thousands of our boys of 16 and 17—
the two most dangerous years as far as youthful criminality is concerned—
have entered the army, but their place
on the criminal calendar has, alas!
been taken by their juniors, and that in a really horrifying measure. That, further, numerous criminal actions re-

THE SOCIAL EFFECT.

The effect of war upon the social life
of the country is marked, and particu-

"No doubt it is the war spirit which

youths an overweening opinion of
themselves."

"Such as the confession must be, in
many cases the mother herself, by mis-
ery or passion, has entered upon a life
of sin, and henceforth cannot exert
any more a restraining influence upon
her children."

majority of the teachers are in the trenches. Discipline is gone, and often
the school houses serve as barracks."
"From the police is helpless, for its
own ranks have been depleted and the
small contingent left has its hands full
with matters which seem to them more
important than the surveillance of ur-
chins and small girls."

"How can the evil be remedied? I

ity to enable them to cope with the

very bad, and thus explains the cause:

been increased through the very prevalence of the wild spirit of war permeating our whole national and private

so why let him think he is the only source of happiness for us?"
Dolly laughed and ran ahead to be first in line as they reached a path leading down from the orchard into the ravine.
Madge was the last in line, and, instead of following the others, turned into a path leading to the left where she could see a tiny stream of clear water pouring from a spring. The voices of the others sounded farther and farther away, and suddenly there came a quick thunderclap that brought surprised screams from the girls and started them back up the steep

Madge, planning to run ahead of the others made a quick start, but stepped on a loose stone, wrenching her ankle
so that the next step caused severe pain.
Piqued at the failure of her plan, but determined not to be dependent upon their one male escort, she sat down behind a tree as the others drew near. One after another the girls called her, but she did not reply.

"She must have gone on ahead," said
Dolly, "but I saw her go down that path."
"You girls run for the house," said Tom, "and I'll scout around down this path." A moment later the girls were in sight of the house, and the sound of the fast-spreading dark cloud that lightning almost constantly. In an other moment, Tom had found Madge, discovered her injury, and in spite of her tearful and excited protest, picked her up in his arms and started up the steep path in long, quick strides.

As they reached the orchard, scattering hailstones began to pelt them like pebbles from a slingshot. Under a big apple tree, Tom let Madge slip to her feet, and removing his coat, made a covering for their heads while he stood on the side to protect her from the winddriven rain. The shower passed, and as suddenly as it came, and as Madge
looked up into Tom's eyes, even the darkening twilight could not hide the surrender in her own eyes.

"I'm sorry only for your sprained
ankle," said Tom. "Shall we hurry on
and call a doctor?"
"A doctor may not be necessary," said Madge, "but we must hurry to put your personal representative in justice to Judge Morrow, who is a candidate for office, and in the interest of the facts."

FOR INTERURBAN LINE

FILING OF STRICKLAND CHARTER
SHOWS PROPOSED ROUTE
WACO TO HOUSTON.

Falls County Old Settlers Will Hold
Encampment on July
18, 19 and 20.

Marlin, July 7.—The report from Austin that the new Strickland merged
interurban charter filed with the state
yesterday embraces the right to construct a line from Waco to Houston
has caused much local interest as it
is taken to indicate Marlin will soon
have closer connection with Waco and
hourly service.

It is believed this move will give a further impetus to the promotion of
the Marlin-Temple interurban road by local capitalists.

After waiting on indefinite moves
for about one year, the final approval
by the attorney general's department
of the Marlin $120,000 civic improvement bonds has been secured by Mayor
E. W. Bounds, who recently made a trip to Austin to clinch the matter.

The bonds have been sold and architects and engineers are now busy making plans for the installation of the $45,000 sewer system, the erection of a $60,000 school building and $15,000
waterworks extension work.

Little local interest has been manifested in county politics in this city
until during the last few days. There are second term seekers, Sheriff C. H.
Plott being the only one having active opposition, while two precinct officers
are being actively opposed, one being
the justice of the peace, and the other
the commissioner of precinct No. 1,
with four seeking his defeat.

The old settlers of Falls county have selected July 18, 19 and 20 for the annual encampment to be held at Tomlinson Hill, which will be known as
the eighth annual reunion of the old settlers and Confederate Veterans of Falls county. A good program has been provided for the occasion.

Yesterday Not Hottest
Day But Probably the
Most Uncomfortable

The average pedestrian declared
sometime during the course of the afternoon yesterday, with a jabbing handkerchief at his brow, that it was the hottest day of the year. It lacked one degree by the thermometer of being the
hottest, as a matter of fact, according to the registration by Dr. I. Block. But the effect on the individual was perhaps more disagreeable yesterday than
on June 2 at 4 p. m., when the thermometer stood at 99 degrees as opposed to 98 degrees yesterday at 4
p. m. Yesterday there was very little wind, the total being 108 miles and the
fastest per hour being only eight miles.
On the star hot day of June 2, the wind registered 281 for the day and the fastest was over twenty miles. So yesterday while not entitled to the thermal honors by the record, probably took first place for the discomfort to pedestrians.

Judge Wilson of Houston made a vigorous attack on the primary system
at the late meeting of the bar association at Galveston. When his complaints are analyzed, however, they are found to relate to the inherent weakness of individuals, rather than to the
defects of the system. The convention
would have to carry all these burdens,
and many additional defects to which
it is peculiarly exposed. No system
can make an honest man of a crook or

DAILY SHORT STORY.

HAPPINESS FIRST.

By ISABEL HARTWELL.

Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper
Syndicate, Inc.

"Tom Wayne, why don't you get married and shoulder your share of responsibility?" Mrs. Estes put this question
to her son's chum, who was also her attorney.

"My dear Mrs. Estes, as a bachelor I
can be nice to all the ladies, but once
I'm married I must limit my attentions
to the woman who condescends to take me." Tom smiled at Mrs. Estes, who pushed aside the papers they had been discussing.

"You're just beating about the bush
with that silly argument," Mrs. Estes
was kind, but firm, as she continued her attack. "First thing you know you'll be
an old bachelor instead of just a bachelor, and if any girl takes you it will be for your money. Tom, you're too fine
a man to dandle into a smiling old bachelor whom all the girls smile upon
in the open and frown upon in private."

"You're merciless, Mrs. Estes. Besides,
I'm only thirty-four, and not quite a
nuisance even to the girls of twenty."
There was spirit in Tom's retort.

"I'm being purposely direct, Tom, for
you're just at the point where a man
begins to take up each younger set
of girls as they come on, and once settled
in that habit, his doom is sealed. I want you to have a happier fate, and I want
some nice girl to have the happy fate
of becoming your wife while you're still
the charming Tom Wayne who is welcome everywhere." Her voice was full
of feeling.

"I make my humble obeisance for the
compliment, my lady and may I ask
whether you have a particular girl pick-
ed out for me?"

"No," shaking her head, "for the girls
nowadays are as bent upon putting off
marriage as the men are. I know any
number of nice girls who would make
good wives for men like you if both
of you would only throw aside those
foolish notions about not giving up your
so-called freedom."

"Bring 'em on in numbers as many as
you like," laughed Tom. "There's safety
in numbers, you know, but don't set me
adrift with some particular one."
"Is that a bargain, Tom?" demanded
Mrs. Estes.

"Yes, but what are you up to now?"
"I'm going to have seven girls at my
country house for a girl's party tomorrow afternoon and evening. I dare you
to drop in unexpectedly for dinner."

"Dare me?" Tom then knew you'll be a bit scared, for seven is his lucky number." Both laughed as they bade each
other good afternoon.

The next evening, as Tom Wayne
steered his gray roadster into the roadway that wound under the big trees up to the country home of Mrs. Estes and

FAITH NOT SHARED BY THE COUNTRY.

Washington again accepts the assurances of Carranza, and the events
which followed what was virtually a
declaration of war by him are, to all practical intent, wiped out. The Carrinal affair will, apparently, be ignored, and Carranza will be given the
moral support of our government.

patience and forbearance never before seen by a government. Time and again Carranza has flattered the Washington government, when it was seriously
seeking to aid him, and threats of war
against us have been frequently employed by him to arouse the indignation of his American constituents, and under his winning smile. No amount of leadership has appeared among the Mexicans who has so conspicuously
undermined this country as Carranza,
and no other revolutionary leader has made that question so acute. His first quarrel with Villa was the supplanting
of a seeming ally in a war with the United States, which Villa disapproved. He has given this country
every provocation to war which all
countries recognize as justifiable provocation. The attack at Carrizal would have been accepted by every other
country in the world as a signal for
war.

These are conditions of which notice
must be taken. There may be something beneath the surface which induces the Washington government to
prolong its faith in Carranza and his associates, but candor requires the declaration that no considerable element
in this country shares that faith. The belief is general that Carranza is merely playing with the Washington authorities, under stress of military necessity, that he is the inveterate foe of
this country, and that he only bides
his time to renew in every way possible the intrigues and harassments
of 100,000 American troops on the border.

A simplified system of court procedure would cut off two-thirds of the
work and expense in the trial court,
and four-fifths of the work and expense in the appellate court. The need
of the hour is not more courts, but a
change of procedure that will mean
less courts.

Carranza money has but little value
in most places in Mexico except when
its circulation is accelerated with a pointed rifle. Hence the report that Washington will give the de facto government financial aid may well inspire
Carranza to a friendly vocabulary—as
long as the help lasts.

Savings accounts in Germany have
increased during the war as never before. This is due to two causes: the
disuse of intoxicants and the enforcement of rigid economy. The world
never estimates what it pays for whis-
is here.

The bodies of the soldiers who were killed at Carrizal have been returned
to El Paso, and will be reinterred on American soil. Will their headstone

THE SOCIAL EFFECT.

The effect of war upon the social life
of the country engaged, and particu-

use of position, has entered upon a life

the school houses serve as barracks."

"Even the police is helpless, for its proper supervision of our banks and warehouses is a foregone conclusion.

the certitude that a similar situation for similar reasons prevails in the countries of our enemies."

This is the sequence of war in the most thoroughly organized country in the world. What must be the situation in those countries which, at best, have an imperfect administration? If the whole truth were known, it would be disclosed that virtual anarchy exists in the greater part of Europe, and throughout Asia.

pebbles from a slingshot. Under a big

as suddenly as it came, and as Madge
looked up into Tom's eyes, even the darkening twilight could not hide the surprise in her own eyes.

"I'm so sorry to have been both rude and troublesome," she said simply, "for it was all the result of my determination
not to let you be nice to me."

"I'm sorry only for your sprained
ankle," said Tom. "Shall we hurry on
and call a doctor?"
"A doctor may not be necessary," said
Madge, "but we must hurry to put poor
Mrs. Estes out of suspense. Let me walk, though."

"No, it might seriously aggravate the injury," Tom's tone was positive, and Madge's protests were as weak now as they had been strong a little while before.

Although a young woman of twenty-five with a fine physique, she is not a light burden even for an athletic man of thirty-four, Tom was not glad when they reached the veranda and were surround-

FOR INTERURBAN LINE

FILING OF STRICKLAND CHARTER
SHOWS PROPOSED ROUTE
WACO TO HOUSTON.

Encampment on July
18, 19 and 20.

Marlin, July 7.—The report from Austin that the new Strickland merged
interurban charter filed with the state
yesterday embraces the right to construct a line from Waco to Houston
has caused much local interest as it
is taken to indicate Marlin will soon
have closer connection with Waco and
hourly service.

It is believed this move will give a
further impetus to the promotion of
the Marlin-Temple interurban road by
local capitalists.

After waiting on indefinite moves
for about one year, the final approval
by the attorney general's department
of the Marlin $120,000 civic improvement bonds has been secured by Mayor
E. W. Bounds, who recently made a trip to Austin to clinch the matter.

The bonds have been sold and architect-engineers are now busy making plans for the installation of the
$45,000 sewer system, the erection of a
$60,000 school building and $15,000
waterworks extension work.

Little local interest has been manifested in county politics in this city
until during the last few days. There is little competition for offices as all
are second term seekers, Sheriff C. H.
Plot being the only one having active
opposition, while two precinct officers
are being actively opposed, one being
the justice of the peace, with two candidates after his place, and the other
the commissioner of precinct No. 1,
with four seeking his defeat.

selected July 18, 19 and 20 for the
annual encampment to be held at Tom-
linson Hill, which will be known as
the eighth annual reunion of the old
settlers and Confederate Veterans of Falls county. A good program has been provided for the occasion.

Governor Ferguson
Corrects Mistake

Austin, July 7.—Governor Ferguson
today gave out the following statement:

"My attention has been called to a statement which I made some days ago
in North Texas in which I stated that I had a letter from the chairman of the finance committee of the house, J. M.
Wagstaff, and a letter from the chairman of the finance committee of the senate, W. C. Morrow, both of whom were commending my action in employing Capt. W. E. Craddock as my personal representative to investigate and report the condition of all the institutions under the state government. If I used Judge Morrow's name instead of S. B. Cowell's name, it was a mistake, because Mr. Cowell
was the chairman of the finance committee from the senate and it is from him that I have the letter commending
my action in employing Mr. Craddock."

"I make this statement in justice to Judge Morrow, who is a candidate for
office, and in the interest of the facts."

Only Democrats
Can Vote in Primary
as to Submission

Austin, July 7.—None but bona fide members of the democratic party can participate in a democratic primary election and therefore republicans, socialists and members of any party
other than the democratic party cannot vote in the approaching democratic primary solely on the question of submission, according to an opinion of the attorney general, rendered today.

The attorney general's department
also held that if a person is a candidate for the nomination of two or more offices in the primaries, his name should be placed on the official ballot
by the executive committee.

FIRST FIELD ARTILLERY OF NEW YORK OFF FOR THE BORDER

Members of the second battalion of the First New York field artillery are shown pushing a heavily loaded truck out of a ruck in the road at Van Cortlandt Park, New York city. The artillerymen marched from the park to Yonkers, where they entrained at the New York Central yards for Brownsville, Texas.

Yesterday Not Hottest
Day But Probably the
Most Uncomfortable

The average pedestrian declared
sometime during the course of the afternoon yesterday, with a jabbing hand-
kerchief at his brow, that it was the hottest day of the year. It lacked one
degree by the thermometer of being the
hottest, as a matter of fact, according to the registration by Dr. L. Block. But the effect on the individual was perhaps more disagreeable yesterday than
on June 2 at 4 p. m., when the thermometer stood at 95 degrees as opposed to 88 degrees yesterday at 4
p. m. Yesterday there was very little wind, the total being 108 miles and the
fastest per hour being only eight miles.
On the star hot day of June 2, the wind registered 281 for the day and the fastest was over twenty miles. So yesterday while not entitled to the
thermal honors by the record, probably took first place for the discomfort to pedestrians.

dence, interment at Oakwood cemetery.

tender sympathy of friends in the loss of their little one.

Candidates Can Pay
as Late as July 9
and Get On Ticket

Austin, July 7.—It would be legal for the county executive committees to ment as late as the second Monday in July, according to an opinion of the attorney general's department written by W. P. Dumas, assistant attorney general.

Anthrax Quarantine Up.

Austin, July 7.—Failure and refusal of certain counties in the southeastern portions of the state to establish quarantine against anthrax or charbon, prompted Dr. W. A. Davis, assistant state health officer, today to recommend to Governor Ferguson that the state take a hand in the matter. Dr.
Davis urged upon the governor that a general state quarantine proclamation
be issued against counties affected with the disease where the local authorities have failed or refused to establish a quarantine.

RED CROSS TO CEASE GIVING TROOPS EATS

BULK OF TRAINS HAVE PASSED THROUGH AND GREATEST NEEDS SEEN TO BE OVER.

FIRST AID COURSE BEGUN

Membership is Still Being Pushed.
Traps Are Being Made to Nearby Towns.

After securing a number of trains of soldiers yesterday, Chairman W. W. Seley of the Waco chapter of the American National Red Cross announced last night that it has been decided to discontinue the efforts to work at the trains, as the movement is almost finished and the trains pass through so seldom and there is not enough advance information of their coming.

This work has been in progress for ten days and thousands of the young men of America who are in the national guard of the several states have been taken care of. The women of Waco and the surrounding country have been faithful. They have spent long hours at the various railroad depots and have been energetic in their efforts to provide lemonade, sandwiches and other refreshments for the travel-worn soldiers who are on the way to the border. It has been a task and Chairman Seley said yesterday that he has never known so much work done by women and girls in his life. He expects to make a public acknowledgement through the press of the service that has been done.

No more trains are to be served. The workers are exhausted. They have about finished with those who are known to be on the road, and they will take a rest today and recuperate from the exacting duties.

Not only were the trains served but the Salvation Army was given some food to be distributed among the needy and some was taken to the Orphan Home. This was because there was a lapse of too long a time between some of the trains and food that had been prepared could not be kept. But it has all gone to serve a good purpose.

SOME HAVE NOT PAID FEE.

There are about 100 applications for membership on file in the office of those who have not yet paid their fees to the organization. It is announced that those who have not paid these dues are requested to call at the Waco State bank and pay their dues. The money is needed. The feeding of the soldiers has been an expensive business with the Waco chapter and the funds in the treasury are about exhausted. Money is needed now for future work and those who have agreed to join and have not paid are urged to make their deposits at once.

There are a large number of members who are not provided with the Red Cross buttons. This is because the supply of buttons was exhausted, but a sufficient number has been received now and all who are entitled to buttons are invited to call at the Waco State bank and get them. The buttons are neat and attractive and several hundred people in Waco are wearing them today.

The Waco chapter will be glad to have new members. There are many people in Waco who have not yet joined the organization. It is a permanent feature of civic life in Waco from this time on, and members are wanted. There will be need for the Red Cross in the future and all who are inter-

AROUSE ENTHUSIASM AT MART.

Thursday night a delegation went from the Waco chapter to Mart on the invitation of Miss Effie Cowan. In the party were W. W. Seley and wife, Dr. L. L. McGlasson and wife, C. P. Link and wife, H. H. Flynn, secretary, and wife, Rev. W. P. Witsell, Mrs. Mary West Beatty and Miss Stratton. Miss Cowan had secured fifteen members for the Red Cross at Mart and the people were very much interested. They gave the Wacoans a cordial reception. The secretary of the Mart M. C. A. had prepared an open air place for the meeting, and there was a large audience to hear what the Waco people had to say. Mr. Seley spoke, Dr. McGlasson delivered a talk, and Dr. Witsell and C. P. Link, literature was left and the people there are to get more members. These will be members of the Waco chapter.

The next visit will be to Marlin some time next week. An invitation has been received from Marlin to come to the headquarters of the Red Cross at Marlin and Chairman Seley will take a delegation from this city to that popular resort and enroll the membership. The trip will be made in the cool of the evening by automobile, returning that night. The Marlin people are anxious for the visit.

FIRST-AID LECTURE IS GIVEN.

The first lecture in first aid was given yesterday afternoon at the Red Cross headquarters in the Cameron building. It is proposed to educate all who want to take the lectures in Red Cross first aid so they can be issued certificates from the headquarters in Washington. Dr. Irby L. McGlasson is in charge of this branch of the work and he has the promise of the physicians and nurses of the city in co-operation. The lectures are to be from 5 to 6 p. m. every Tuesday and Friday afternoons. These lectures are free to every one and the public is not only welcome, but all who are interested in this first-aid work are urged to attend and take all the lectures. There will be practical clinics on some phases of the work. For instance, there will be a lecture on hand diseases and a demonstration on how to make them. Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the Cameron building by Miss Hollifield.

Suggests Holding Onto Real Estate for Better Times

While it is true that there is not much movement in Waco real estate, insofar as investment or speculative purposes are concerned, yet it is a fact that prices appear to be bracing up somewhat, and there is less inclination among property holders to sell unless they get what they consider a fair price for holdings. One man who has considerable property in the city said yesterday:

"For awhile I tried to sell a good deal of my property, but I have come to the conclusion that if the price I make on it to the other man would mean a bargain for him, I would not mean a bargain for me to hold it, and that's just what I have concluded to do. There is no doubt whatever as to the outcome in Waco; we only have to wait awhile until normal conditions come, and then things are going to be better here than they have ever been, and there will be an era of development and improvement, backing up the speculative movement of a few years ago; this development always follows the speculative stage, just as D. E. Hirschfeld has pointed out several times."

"My property to property owners is not to give it away, but just sit tight for awhile, because when the European war ends it will be a short time before this country, and particularly Central Texas, will be in the most active period of its existence."

This statement came from one of the largest holders of Waco real estate, and is a man who is known to everybody in the community.

THINKS ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE IS MEDDLER

JOHN D. ROBINSON, CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS, IS AGAINST PRO ORGANIZATION.

Belton Man Speaks to Large Crowd on Court House Lawn—Lauds
President Wilson.

Hon. John D. Robinson of Belton, candidate for the United States congress, delivered his first address of the campaign in Waco before a large crowd on the court house lawn last night. Applauded frequently, greeted statements of the speaker, indicating that he had many friends among the hundreds gathered for the address. If desired some one in congress would attempt to secure the enactment of national prohibition they would have to select one of his two opponents, said Mr. Robinson in putting himself squarely against state and national prohibition. He also said that he did not vote for local option in his own precinct and he charged that the Anti-Saloon league was attempting to meddle in politics. He insisted that the democrats of Texas would not let an organization with its headquarters in the republican state of Ohio dominate the politics. The speaker took stand for the farmer's interests in congress, pledged himself for a sane program of preparedness and paid a high tribute to Wilson and to the democratic administration.

Ex-Mayor James B. Baker of this city introduced the speaker, declaring that he was a man of high ideals and that he was a sturdy son of Texas democracy.

Speaking along personal lines, Mr. Robinson told of his education in Texas schools, his legal experience, saying that he had been for some time law partner of Gov. James E. Ferguson and that he had resigned his position as district judge to make this race. As a general principle, the speaker declared that he had no higher ambition than to serve the people faithfully while in office, and if elected, he promised to do the right as he knew the right. In the platform which he announced at the beginning of his campaign, he declared that he had not straddled any of the issues of the day and he proposed to continue to face them squarely.

Voicing his allegiance to the democrats and paying his compliments to the present administration, Mr. Robinson declared that Woodrow Wilson was the greatest chief executive that the nation had had since Thomas Jefferson. He said that he believed in preparedness, a preparedness equal to the demands of the country. He thought that the navy, the army and the coast defense should all be sufficiently large and commensurate to the country abroad and at home. However, the speaker made it clear that he did not stand for militarism, and in his own mind he looked eagerly to a time when wars would pass from the earth and peace would be as a perpetual bond between nations.

He placed the Wilson tariff as the best that had ever been passed and insisted that the enactment of the tariff among property holders to sell as an achievement to insure the glory of the administration.

On the same basis which the regional banks were established primarily to help the business of the country, Mr. Robinson thought there should be inaugurated a system of rural credits that would do as much for the agricultural interests. He thought that the government should show no favoritism between the farmer and the business man. He expressed himself as being strongly in favor of a system of land association federated into a land bank.

The speaker paid a high tribute to the farmers as the producers of the wealth of the country.

"The wealth of this nation depends on the great mass of men who are never heard of," he declared, and he illustrated by the beauty of the tree which gets its subsistence from the ground and the beauty of the flower which gets its beauty from the man underneath, he emphasized.

When the speaker put himself on record as having unstinted faith in the Brazos navigation project, he drew an approving cheer from the crowd. He took occasion to compliment Congressman R. L. Henry on his faithfulness to the project. Since the government has already spent millions toward making the Brazos navigable and since its feasibility has been passed on by competent engineers, Mr. Robinson thought that the best policy was to rush it to completion.

Because much of the great wealth of farm produce never gets in the two great transportation channels of rail or water, the speaker thought that the government ought to make appropriations for post roads. He declared that the assistance of the government in building good roads would be a direct and substantial benefit to the farming class.

He declared his unqualified opposition to state and national prohibition and to national woman suffrage. He recalled that the state democratic party had expressed the same view on state prohibition and that the national democratic party had went on record against national woman suffrage. He thought that local option was the proper method of handling the liquor question. The anti-saloon came in for a share of the speaker's attention and the gist of his remark on this subject was that this organization is an unwelcome meddler. Mr. Robinson paid a tribute to the southern negroes and declared that he would never raise his voice against the Low Cause.

On the question of labor unions, Mr. Robinson expressed his emphatic belief in organized labor. He thought that the rights of the great mass of voiceless labor should be protected and that living wages should be the rule and reasonable hours assured.

A brass band enlivened the crowd before the speaking began and the Robinson address seemed to be very well received. Arrangements for the speaking were made by the McLennan county Robinson club.

Rainbow Bands for Men's Hats

(Chicago Apparel Gazette.)

Probably never before in the history of the hat industry was there such a great variety of styles in straw hats on the market as there is this season. This extraordinary assortment includes shapes, colors and kinds of straw in combinations which surpass anything that has been offered to the consumer in other seasons.

Some of these new styles have been accepted by certain classes of men as a welcome change from the more familiar and ordinary styles which have been his favorites for the past several years—principally the medium height crown, moderately broad brim sennit and the dropped tip crown, natural shaped brim leghorn.

At some of the race meets recently held near New York, where fashionable sportsmen and clubmen gather, it was observed on various occasions that a big majority of the smartly dressed men present wore the style of sennit straw hat described above, and on about eight out of every ten of these hats there was a colored silk band instead of the ordinary black band.

Usually these bands were in the wearer's club colors, or perhaps college fraternity colors, or in colors to harmonize with his suit, shirt, tie, etc. And another interesting feature about this smartly dressed class of men is the fact that a large number of them wear these boater-shape straw hats slightly tipped to one side, usually the right. Especially was this rather becoming fact noticeable among young men.

Seley of the Waco chapter of the American National Red Cross, announced last night that it has been decided to discontinue the refreshments work on the trains, as the movement is almost finished and the trains pass through so seldom and there is not enough advance information of their coming.

This work has been in progress for ten days and thousands of the young men of America who are in the national guard of the several states have been taken care of. The women of Waco and the young ladies have been faithful. They have served long hours at the various railroad depots and have been energetic in their efforts to provide lemonade, sandwiches and other refreshments for the travel-worn soldiers who are on the way to the border. It has been a task and Chairman Seley said yesterday that he has never known so much work done by women and girls in his life. He expects to make a public acknowledgment through the press of the service that has been done.

No more trains are to be served. The workers are exhausted. They have about finished with those who are known to be on the road, and they will take a rest today and recuperate from the exacting duties.

Not only were the trains served but the Salvation Army was given some food to be distributed among the needy, and some was taken to the Orphan Home. This was because there was a lapse of too long a time between some of the trains and food that had been prepared could not be kept. But it has all gone to serve a good purpose.

SOME HAVE NOT PAID FEE.

There are about 100 applications for membership on file in the office of those who have not yet paid their fees to the organization. It is announced that those who have not paid these dues are required to call at the Waco State bank and discharge the obligation. The money is needed. The feeding of the soldiers has been an expensive business with the Waco chapter and the funds in the treasury are about exhausted. Money is needed now for future work and those who have agreed to join and have not paid are urged to make their deposits at once.

There are a large number of members who are not provided with the Red Cross buttons. This is because the supply of buttons was exhausted, but a sufficient number has been received now and all who are entitled to buttons are invited to call at the Waco State bank and get them. The buttons are neat and attractive and several hundred people in Waco are wearing them today.

The Waco chapter will be glad to have new members. There are many people in Waco who have not yet joined the organization. It is a permanent feature of civic life in Waco from this time on, and members are wanted. There will be need for the Red Cross in the future and all who are inter-

MARKET REPORT

COTTON

New York, July 7.—Reports of heavy rains in the south caused rather a sharp advance in the cotton market during today's early trading, but failed to stimulate any general demand and prices eased off with the close, steady net 1 point lower to 2 points higher. October contracts sold as high as 13.14 during the day, or about 12 points above last night's closing figures but eased off to 13.04 and closed at 13.05.

The market opened steady at an advance of 5 to 6 points on the wet weather and steady late cables from Liverpool. Business was not particularly active, but offerings were light, while there was considerable covering by people who had sold on yesterday's reassuring weather reports, and there also seemed to be some laying on expectations that the delayed weather reports would show even heavier precipitation than the early rain. This sent prices up about 4 to 12 points at the middle of the morning.

At this level, however, demand seemed to slacken and while another bulge followed the publication of the weather details, the market eased off again during the afternoon.

Beyond shorts of activity on the early advance and again following the detailed weather reports, trading was very quiet during the entire day.

Weekly Cotton Review.

New York, July 7.—There have been violent fluctuations in the cotton market here during the past week. The break which followed the publication of the government's crop report last Saturday carried October contracts off to 12.85 or more than $1 per bale under the recent high level. The official condition of $1.1 per cent compared with $0.2, the ten-year average, indicated a much greater improvement in crop prospects during June than had been suggested by private reports and was interpreted by the Washington statisticians as pointing to a yield of 14,250,000 bales, excluding lint. Neither this prospect nor the break in the futures market appeared to bring in any general selling.

The appearance of a gulf storm approaching the coast on Wednesday stimulated the rally, which had been set in progress by covering over the holiday on Tuesday, and October contracts sold at 13.16 during the day, before the week's points above the low level of the week.

New Orleans.

New Orleans, July 7.—Although the cotton market had a firm undertone and went to a moderate advance in the early trading today, the good tone was lost after the noon hour and the gain was wiped out, chiefly as the result of selling stimulated by reports of renewed summer time activity on the part of Germany. At the lowest of the day, however, October, the most active month, was only 1 point under the last quotation of yesterday. The market closed steady at a net rise of 1 to 3 points on the distant months and not unchanged on the near.

Good cables and rather alarming reports of damage from the hurricane in Mississippi and Alabama caused moderately heavy buying around the opening, on which the market improved 10 to 12 points. After several minor reactions of the active months at noon sold 11 to 12 points up, reports of Russian successes against the Germans heating the market, and in the afternoon the tone turned easy under the rumor that an unarmed English ship had been sunk by a submarine. It was a large market and the trade still was waiting for definite reports regarding the damage done by the gulf storm. The bear element contended most claims of damage were exaggerated and that only a small area of the belt had been visited by the storm.

WHEAT

Chicago, July 7.—Notwithstanding that the bearish nature of the government crop report had been generally foreseen, wheat prices today showed strength, the result chiefly of unexpected rains in the northwest and of higher quotations at Liverpool. The close, although unsettled, was at 4 1/2@4 3/4 net advance, with July at $1.03 1/2, and September at $1.05 1/2@1.06.

Corn finished 4 1/2@4 3/4 off to 4 1/2@4 3/4 net advance, with July at $1.03 1/2, and September at $1.05 1/2@1.06.

Fear of rust in the spring wheat belt owing to continued excessively humid weather, lifted wheat values right at the start, and so too did the Liverpool advance. On the whole, however, offerings here became more liberal, influenced partly by word of unexpectedly good threshing returns in Oklahoma and Kansas.

Corn went higher, yellow corn in the sample market mounting to above 80c a bushel.

Outs reflected the corn strength. Provisions decline because of big hog receipts.

Prices ranged as follows today:

DUN'S REVIEW.

New York, July 7.—Dun's review to-morrow will say:

Competitive buying has abated and business moves under reduced momentum, though with surprisingly little shrinkage in its volume. This is the period when a decided halt is to be expected, as many plants ordinarily stop for needed repairs and inventories and vacations are calculated to bring comparative quiet in commercial channels. Yet this year is an exception and much less than the customary lull is now apparent, while indications foreshadow unusual activity throughout the summer. Instead of being at low ebb, as is often the case at this time, production is maintained close to the recent maximum and enforced shut downs at manufacturing works will as a rule be of short durations. Operations in numerous instances, however, continued hampered by the scarcity of labor.

Large orders for army shoes have imparted stimulus to footwear and leather while in steel and iron the sustained heavy foreign demands tend to offset the contraction in strictly domestic business. Further price recessions in the metal market and in some other quarters. Weekly bank clearings $4,915,921.50.

COTTONSEED OIL

New York, July 7.—After showing signs of steadiness early on bad weather in the southwest, cotton seed oil turned easy under scattered liquidation and lack of outside interest. Final prices were generally 2 to 5 points lower. Sales 15-200 barrels.

WACO MARKETS

There was again a big lot of oats on the public square yesterday and a number of sales reported.

Prices ranged from 40 to 41 cents a bushel again yesterday, seeming to have halted right at that point to await developments, as it were. While many wagonloads of oats are being brought in it is not all the farmers who are selling, though most of them appear to be fairly well satisfied with the prevailing prices. Oats this year are unusually bright and satisfactory, due to the splendid weather which prevailed during the harvesting period of most of it.

Answering some of the questions asked by subscribers concerning the working of a telephone exchange.

17: "Why do I receive 'wrong number' calls?"

Of course there is occasionally a wrong connection due to the operator "plugging in" the wrong jack on the switchboard—when you look at an "operating position" and the thousands of small holes or "jacks," you will not wonder that an error of this kind is sometimes made.

But—sometimes the calling party calls the wrong number, you know. It is easy to transpose figures in one's mind, without knowing it, or to give a number wrong. Sometimes the number is given right, but misunderstood by the operator—some figures, when spoken, sound very much alike.

Use the directory when calling unless you KNOW you have the number right. Speak distinctly when giving the number, and talk INTO the transmitter, not just at it. See that the operator repeats back the number you want. Then, if you get the wrong telephone, blame the telephone company—but not until then.

COTTON

New York, July 7.—Reports of heavy rains in the south caused rather a sharp advance in the cotton market during today's early trading but failed to stimulate any general demand and prices eased off with the close, steady, net 1 point lower to 2 points higher. October contracts sold as high as 13.14 during the day, or about 12 points above last night's closing figures but eased off to 13.04 and closed at 13.05.

The market opened steady at an advance of 3 to 4 points on the wet weather map and steady late cables from Liverpool. Business was not particularly active, but offerings were light, while there was considerable covering by people who had sold on yesterday's reassuring weather reports and there also seemed to be some buying on expectations that the detailed weather reports would show even heavier precipitation than the early map. This sent prices up about 9 to 12 points net during the middle of the morning. At this level, however, demand seemed to slacken and while another bulge followed the publication of the weather details, the market eased off again during the afternoon.

Weekly Cotton Review.
New York, July 7.—There have been recent fluctuations in the cotton market here during the past week. The break which followed the publication of the government's crop report last Saturday carried October contracts up to 12.85 or more than $1 per bale under the recent high level. The official condition of 51.1 per cent compared with 50.2, the ten-year average, indicated a much greater improvement in crop prospects during June than had been suggested by private reports and was interpreted by the Washington statisticians as pointing to the possibility of 14,250,000 bales, exceeding figures. Neither this prospect nor the break in the futures market appeared to bring in any general selling.

The appearance of a gulf storm approaching the coast on Wednesday stimulated the rally, which had been set in progress by covering over the holiday on Tuesday, and October contracts sold at 13.16 during today's trading or about 30 points above the low level of the week.

New Orleans.
New Orleans, July 7.—Although the cotton market had a firm undertone and went to a moderate advance in the early trading today, the good tone about which the market had been set since the week before, chiefly as the result of selling stimulated by reports of renewed autumnal activity on the part of Germany, fine activity of the day, however, October, the most active month, was only 1 point under the last quotation of yesterday. The market closed steady at a net rise of 1 to 3 points on the nearer months and net unchanged on the distant. Good cables and rather alarming reports of damage from the hurricane in Mississippi and Alabama caused moderate heavy buying around the opening, on which the market improved 10 to 11 points. After several minor reactions of the active months, the tone turned easy under the rumor that an unarmed English ship had been sunk by a submarine. It was a large market and the trade still was waiting for definite reports regarding the damage done by the gulf storm. The bear element contended most claims of damage were exaggerated and that only a small area of the belt had been visited by the storm.

TRACTION COMPANY HAS PERMISSION TO EXTEND LINES SOUTH

In filing the charter at Austin of the consolidated lines of interurban which are now known as the Texas Electric Railway company, the Strickland interests received permission to extend the lines of the company from Waco to San Antonio and from Waco to Houston, according to dispatches from Austin to the state newspapers.

The various lines of the Southern Traction company and the Texas Traction company are included in the consolidation, as shown in detail in these columns some two weeks ago, but the filing of the new charter and the permission to extend the lines southward and southwestward from Waco form new developments in the situation which will be intensely interesting here.

The capitalization under the new charter is placed at $10,500,000, and

Art Exhibition on Church Lawn.

This will include a very artistically and skillfully made quilt. Come and look for your name. Several articles will be sold. Coffee and pie will be served. Public invited.

the street car systems of Denison, Sherman, McKinney, Waxahachie, Corsicana and Waco are consolidated under the charter of the new company. These systems have been acquired comparatively recently. Directors of the company are J. P. Strickland, Dallas; Osce Goodwin, Dallas; George W. Bowman, Plano; W. R. Brents, Sherman; J. L. Lovejoy, McKinney; S. D. Moore, Van Alstyne; W. B. Munson, Denison; R. B. Stichter, Dallas; R. L. Waddill, McKinney; A. A. Jackson, Dallas; C. R. Dorchester, Sherman; W. W. Batchler, Ferris; F. B. Drame, Corsicana; W. D. Lacy, Waco; W. J. Neale, Waco; W. W. Seley, Waco; J. L. Penn, Waxahachie; J. H. Miller, Waxahachie; A. L. Smith, Hillsboro; S. P. Powell, New York; M. B. Templeton, Dallas.

Templeton, Goodwin and Strickland were the incorporators. Waco people will read the news of the permission given the Texas Electric Railway company with deep interest, and will recall the assertion of Mr. Strickland at the prosperity banquet early in the year, when he predicted that during 1916 his interurban company would be moving southward out of Waco. It is thought that the line to San Antonio will be built before the one to Houston is undertaken.

To Hang Soon Negro Spends Days Praying

John Williams, the negro who is condemned to die by hanging on July 25, puts in much of his time preaching to and praying for the other inmates of the McLennan county jail, and seems to realize that his stay on earth is indeed a very short one.

It was stated yesterday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Joe Roberts that Williams, who is to die for the murder of Allison Criner, another negro, while intensely affected religiously by his approaching fate, is not nervous over it, and eats heartily, seeming to enjoy every morsel that he gets. He does not appear very despondent or depressed, but is intensely interested in appealing to his fellows in the jail and exhorting them to lead better lives, avoid sin and its evils, and to "right about face" generally.

It was just three weeks yesterday from the date on which Williams must pay the penalty of his crime, unless something unforeseen intervenes to hold him back from the gallows, which does not appear probable. He is still in the run-around or corridor at the jail, but several days before the actual execution he will be put in the death cell away from others, where he will have a better chance for reflection, less chance for escape, and will have practically no chance for self-destruction, a plan sometimes followed by persons convicted and sentenced, especially when the date gets near and hangs over them in a manner to affect their reason, causing them often to anticipate the law and have it all over at once.

Declares Chickens Will Kill Squabs

"Did you know that chickens would kill and eat squabs if they are put in with the chickens?"

This was the question asked at the Waco hotel yesterday by an employee of the Progress Laundry who was in the hotel. His hearers said that they had never heard that chickens would eat squabs, but the informant said that it was a fact and that the chickens would do it nearly every time. They soon learn, by pecking the squabs, he said, that the little pigeons are tender, and they appear to like the taste fine, causing them to light onto the squabs voraciously after they peck at them a few times. It is a well known fact that chickens are unusually fond of certain kinds of meat, beef which has been partly cooked for instance, and the squab story sounds very probable to those who know the fowl appetite.

Mrs. J. H. Mackey Gets Broken Arm

Friends of Mrs. J. H. Mackey, wife of former Mayor J. H. Mackey, will be sorry to learn that she had the misfortune Thursday night to break her right arm while alighting from their auto at the residence of T. J. Primm, north of the city.

Mrs. Mackey, thinking that the machine had stopped, got out and started to step forward, but lost her balance, as the machine moved slightly after she stepped out of it. In the fall her right arm was broken.

Retired Minister of Waco Does in Austin

Rev. William K. White of Waco died in Austin last Wednesday, where he had been for the last three months. He was born in Centerville, Tenn., September 15, 1832. He served through the Civil war, a member of company H, 14th Tennessee. Early in life he united with the Methodist church and at the close of the war he prepared for the ministry, serving many churches in South Texas and in Ellis county. He came to Texas in 1852. With his family he made Waco his home for many years. Mrs. White died about ten years ago.

Surviving him are the following children: William M. White, Los Angeles; M. Knox White, Thermal, Cal.; Mrs. M. A. Barr, Aquilla, Texas; and Mrs. J. A. Wilson, Waco.

The body was buried in Austin on Thursday.

Local Letter Carriers Will Give Banquet as Courtesy to Visitors

The Waco Letter Carriers' association will be hosts this evening in the federal building to two distinguished men who are to stop over in Waco after having attended the state meeting of the letter carriers and clerks in Austin.

The men who will be present this evening, and in whose honor the banquet is given, are William Maher of Omaha, Neb., an officer of the National Association of Letter Carriers, and John O. Gates of Dallas, president of the Texas Association of Letter Carriers. These two officials will be the leading speakers on this occasion, and the banquet will, it seems certain, prove a success from every standpoint.

The local organization of letter carriers always has fine banquets, and it is assured that the one tonight will be exceptionally pleasant.

Katy Ball Team Plays Smithville Sunday

The Katy Athletic ball team will go to Smithville tomorrow and on Monday will meet the ball team of the Katy Athletic association at Smithville, the contest for victory to be one of unusual interest, it is believed.

The Smithville team is said to be one of the strongest in the Katy Athletic league, and as the Waco team of Captain Wiebach is admittedly a game proposition, there ought to be some stellar ball playing Monday.

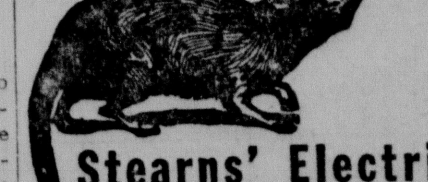

Much interest is felt here in the game, and the ball players are limbering up for the fray.

Humane Society Will Make Arrests Where It Is Necessary

A more active and aggressive turn has been taken in the work of the Texas Humane society at Waco, and Officer G. M. Yarbrough, who for a long time used the very mildest methods possible.

It is thought now, however, that the time has come for sterner measures in cases where the considerate treatment fails to work, and from this time forward there will be employed a different policy, and complaints are to be filed in the proper courts if parties prove to be refractory or obstinate.

It is stated that in the summer time there are always many cases of sore shoulders among the horses, and other forms of trouble, and the animals must be given proper attention and must have sufficient strength to do the work allotted to them, is the verdict of the humane officer, who will see that this plan is carried out.

TRACTION COMPANY HAS PERMISSION TO EXTEND LINES SOUTH

In filing the charter at Austin of the consolidated lines of interurban which are now known as the Texas Electric Railway company, the Strickland interests received permission to extend the lines of the company from Waco to San Antonio and from Waco to Houston, according to dispatches from Austin to the state newspapers.

The various lines of the Southern Traction company and the Texas Traction company are included in the consolidation, as shown in detail in those columns some two weeks ago, but the filing of the new charter and the permission to extend the lines southward and southwestward from Waco form new developments in the situation which will be intensely interesting here.

Art Exhibition on Church Lawn.

The Art Club of the Scandinavian M. E. church, corner Tenth and Vermont streets, will have many and various pieces of needlework on exhibition tonight on the church lawn. This will include a very artistically and skillfully made quilt. Come and look for your name. Several articles will be sold. Coffee and pie will be served. Public invited.

the street car systems of Denison, Sherman, McKinney, Waxahachie, Corsicana and Waco are consolidated under the charter of the new company. These systems have been acquired comparatively recently. Directors of the company are J. F. Strickland, Dallas; Oscar Goodwin, Dallas; George W. Bowman, Plano; W. R. Bronte, Sherman; J. L. Lovejoy, McKinney; S. D. Moore, Van Alstyne; W. B. Munson, Denison; R. B. Stichter, Dallas; R. L. Waddill, McKinney; A. A. Jackson, Dallas; C. R. Dorchester, Sherman; W. W. Batchler, Ferris; F. B. Drane, Corsicana; W. D. Lacy, Waco; W. J. Neale, Waco; W. W. Seley, Waco; J. L. Penn, Waxahachie; J. H. Miller, Waxahachie; A. L. Smith, Hillsboro; S. P. Powell, New York; M. B. Templeton, Dallas.

Templeton, Goodwin and Strickland were the incorporators. Waco people will read the news of the permission given the Texas Electric Railway company with deep interest, and will recall the assertion of Mr. Strickland at the prosperity banquet early in the year when he predicted that during 1916 his interurban company would be moving southward out of Waco. It is thought that the line to San Antonio will be built before the one to Houston is undertaken.

John Williams, the negro who is condemned to die by hanging on July 23, puts in much of his time preaching to and praying for the other inmates of the McLennan county jail, and seems to realize that his stay on earth is indeed a very short one.

It was just three weeks yesterday when the date on which Williams must pay the penalty of his crime, unless something unforeseen intervenes to hold him back from the gallows, which does not appear probable. He is still in the run-around or corridor at the jail, but several days before the actual execution he will be put in the death cell away from others, where he will have a better chance for reflection, less chance for escape, and will have practically no chance for self-destruction, a plan sometimes followed by persons convicted and sentenced, especially when the date gets near and hangs over them in a manner to affect their reason, causing them often to anticipate the law and have it all over at once.

Declares Chickens Will Kill Squabs

"Did you know that chickens would kill and eat squabs if they are put in with the chickens?"

This was the question asked at the Waco hotel yesterday by an employee of the Progress Laundry who was in the hotel. His hearers said that they had never heard that chickens would eat squabs, but the informant said that it was a fact and that the chickens would do it nearly every time. They soon learn by pecking the squabs, he said, that the little pigeons are tender, and they appear to like the taste fine, causing them to light on the squabs voraciously after they peek at them a few times. It is a well known fact that chickens are unusually fond of certain kinds of meat, beef which has been partly cooked for instance, and the squab story sounds very probable to those who know the fowl appetite.

The gentleman who was relating the incident said that he had seen the chickens and squabs placed together enough to know that it means the doom of the squabs in nearly all cases.

Mrs. J. H. Mackey Gets Broken Arm

Friends of Mrs. J. H. Mackey, wife of former Mayor J. H. Mackey, will be sorry to learn that she had the misfortune Thursday night to break her right arm while alighting from their auto at the residence of T. J. Primm, north of the city. Mrs. Mackey, thinking that the machine had stopped, got out and started to step forward, but lost her balance, as the machine moved slightly after she stepped out of it. In the fall her right arm was broken.

Telephone communication was at once established with the city and a physician was in waiting at the Mackey home when they arrived, and gave Mrs. Mackey attention immediately. While she was, of course, suffering quite a bit yesterday, still she was doing as well as could be expected.

Retired Minister of Waco Does in Austin

Rev. William K. White of Waco died in Austin last Wednesday, where he had been for the last three months. He was born in Centerville, Tenn., September 18, 1832. He served through the Civil war, a member of company M, 14th Tennessee, and was discharged at the close of the war he prepared for the ministry, serving many churches in South Texas and in Ellis county. He came to Texas in 1852. With his family he made Waco his home for many years. Mrs. White died about ten years ago.

Surviving him are the following children: William M. White, Los Angeles; M. Knox White, Thermal, Cal.; Mrs. M. A. Barr, Aquilla, Texas, and Mrs. J. A. Wilson, Waco. The body was buried in Austin on Thursday.

Local Letter Carriers Will Give Banquet as Courtesy to Visitors

The Waco Letter Carriers' association will be hosts this evening in the federal building to two distinguished men who are to stop over in Waco after having attended the state meeting of the letter carriers and clerks in Austin.

The men who will be present this evening, and in whose honor the banquet is given, are William Maher of Omaha, Neb., an officer of the National Association of Letter Carriers, and John O. Gates of Dallas, president of the Texas Association of Letter Carriers. These two officials will be the leading speakers on this occasion, and the banquet will, it seems certain, prove a success from every standpoint.

Katy Ball Team Plays Smithville Sunday

The Katy Athletic ball team will go to Smithville tomorrow and on Monday will meet the ball team of the Katy Athletic association at Smithville, the contest for victory to be one of unusual interest, it is believed.

The Smithville team is said to be one of the strongest in the Katy Athletic league, and as the Waco team of Captain Wiebusch is admittedly a game proposition, there ought to be some stellar ball playing Monday.

Much interest is felt here in the game, and the ball players are limbering up for the fray.

Humane Society Will Make Arrests Where It Is Necessary

A more active and aggressive turn has been taken in the work of the Texas Humane society at Waco, and Officer G. M. Yarbrough, who for a long time used the very mildest methods possible.

It is thought now, however, that the time has come for sterner measures in cases where the considerate treatment fails to work, and from this time forward there will be employed a different policy, and complaints are to be filed in the proper courts if parties prove to be refractory or obstinate.

It is stated that in the summer time there are always many cases of scalded shoulders among the horses, and other forms of trouble, and the animals must be given proper attention and must have sufficient strength to do the work allotted to them, is the verdict of the humane officer, who will see that this plan is carried out.
